KNIFE IS WIELDED BY THE FUSION CANDIDATES

The Citizens County Campaign Speedily Degenerates Into a Cut Throat Game.

F. X. BARR, ALIAS J. J. GRADY

Democrats Now Accuse Him of Treachery and Will Help Swell the Majority Against Him—Candidate Berry Dodges Blair County.

Already the fusion campaign has degenerated into a cut-throat game. The candidates are either forming combinations or are making a single-handed battle. Citizens are beginning to make trading propositions to the Republicans. All hope for a complete victory has been abandoned and individuals on the ticket are looking after themselves.

The Republicans are fighting for their whole ticket from top to bottom and are confident that from now on it is only a question of adding to the majority. Boss Bigelow's one hope now is to save Pittsburgh, and of this he is very much in doubt. "Buck" Wallace's police force is being counted on to rough-house the polls and thus swell the majority for the gang. He is ready to go to any length to help the "reform" cause.

The rank and file of the Democratic party is growing tired of assisting a few men to keep their noses in the fusion trough. Any one taking the trouble to talk with Democrats, who do not hold jobs or expect to, can easily ascertain the feeling in the county this fall. The straight Democrats are angry over the trading off of Berry for state treasurer. They will be found voting the Lincoln party ticket.

Place Blame on Grady.

Blame for this treachery is charged chiefly to F. X. Barr, alias J. J. Grady of the Golf Links. He has a $6,000 job in the court house and Boss Bigelow would not allow him to stand for Berry and remain on the ticket. Before Barr, alias Grady, knew that Bigelow intended to take over the leadership of the local Democracy, he declared himself. He made it known that if the Citizens put Plummer on their ticket he would resign as a candidate for clerk of courts. Now he would like to have every one forget he said it. He has not resigned and it is safe to wager almost anything against a golf ball that he will not resign.

While Barr, alias Grady, is the heaviest load on the fusion ticket, some of his caddies in the political game are circulating reports that James A. Clark, the Democratic candidate for commissioner, is the millstone. Men have been heard to say that Barr has made this remark. Get any fusion candidate, except Barr, on the fusion ticket to tell of his experiences in the search for votes and he will say:

Knife Out for Barr.

"I find the heaviest cutting will be on Barr, and I do not see how it can be stopped. There will also be a good deal of cutting on Clark, but he will be able to counteract much of it."

Friends of Clark expect Bigelow to give orders for Alexander Dempster in the closing days of the contest. Dempster is the Citizens nominee for county commissioner. He was personally selected by Bigelow, and the director will do everything he can to make him the minority commissioner. Clark's friends are working with this move on the part of the machine in view. Both sides can play at the plumping game. In the last few days Republicans have been approached by Citizens with this proposition: "You give us a vote for Dempster and we will support the entire Republican ticket with the exception of one commissioner."

William H. Berry, the Prohibition-Democratic candidate for state treasurer, rested in Pittsburgh yesterday from his labors of Saturday night in McKeesport. He learned something about the Allegheny county Democracy and the size of Plummer's majority.

Berry Dodges Blair.

Berry had intended to appear in Altoona tonight with Homer L. Castle. They were to make speeches which were to shake old Blair and swing the home county of J. Lee Plummer into the water and whisky column.

The Altoona meeting has been declared off. The Democratic organization in Blair is not enthusiastic over the Berry candidacy, and it was thought best to omit the speaking. Berry will go to Altoona this morning and hold a "reception." He will leave there this afternoon for Bedford county, where he will rest until tomorrow night, and then make a speech. There was a time when Berry thought he was going to carry Blair county. He said Plummer was very unpopular at home, but he has changed his mind.

Representatives of the Orphans, Lincolnites, Municipal League and Independent Democrats will hold their next meeting on Wednesday. At that time the allied reform forces working for the Republican county ticket will probably decide to name a campaign committee of 40. Its membership will be drawn from all parts of the county. An executive body of about 10 will likely be named to manage the campaign.

COW RESPONSIBLE FOR WRECK AND FIVE DEATHS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

OSKALOOSA, IA., Oct. 15.—Five trainmen were killed today at Seaton, Ill., when a heavy double-header freight train on the Iowa Central railroad ran into cattle on the track at a speed of 20 miles an hour. Both locomotives and 11 freight cars loaded with grain and lumber were piled in a heap beside the track.

THE DEAD.

GEORGE A. CAFFAL, engineer.
HARRY SUMMERS, engineer.
HARRY BARR, fireman.
L. H. BRILEY, fireman.
F. T. MORGAN, brakeman.

All the men killed lived in Oskaloosa except Briley, whose home was in Monmouth, Ill. The engineers lived several hours after the wreck occurred, but the other three men were killed instantly.

A cow was lying on the ties between the rails. She was hidden from view by other cattle standing about her. At the sound of the whistle of the approaching train the standing cattle scampered away, but the forward locomotive struck the lying cow.

The cow was crushed under the wheels of the pilot truck and rolled along the ties for 100 feet. The animal's blood made the rails slippery and pieces of bone threw the front locomotive from the track. The derailed locomotive pitched down an embankment, drawing the second locomotive into the ditch, where the two machines piled up.

SEES HIS PRIZE WINNER GO UP IN FLAMES

The Eighty-Horsepower Auto in Which Hemery Wins Cup and Fame, Is Destroyed.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GLENWOOD, L. I., Oct. 15.—To see his big 80-horse power Darracq racing car, in which he had just won fame and the William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., cup over the Long Island circuit burn to a total wreck, was the fate today of August Hemery, the daring Frenchman who hurled his machine over the cup course in the record time of 4 hours 36 minutes and 8 seconds.

Hemery was sitting on a bench within a few feet of the big car when flames spurted from the gasoline tank, which his machinist was cleaning preparatory to placing the car in a crate to be shipped back to France. Almost beside himself with desperation, Hemery made frantic but futile efforts to quench the flames, and was severely burned.

With Hemery had been sitting Jenatzy and Duray, who drove the 120-horse power Mercedes and 130-horse power De Dietrich cars in yesterday's race. They did all they could to aid Hemery and his machinist in extinguishing the flames that quickly flashed from one part to another of the big car, but to no avail.

Hemery's machinist had gone all over the intricate parts of the car, removing the dust and grime. When he came to the gasoline tank he started to empty it, when, in some unaccountable manner, a lighted match was dropped into the tank. In an instant the dregs of oil flashed up and the machinist narrowly escaped being burned.

When the outskirts of Butler were reached the man left the buggy and disappeared. According to McKeown the man answered the description of Cunliffe.

VILLAGE MARSHAL HALTS A FAST MAIL TRAIN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., Oct. 15.—Government and railroad officials are preparing to bring the town authorities of Oakland, Garrett county, to time for holding up a fast mail train at that place last Thursday night.

Because, as he alleged, the train was exceeding the speed limit when it entered Oakland, the town marshal boarded the train and at the point of a revolver took Engineer William Manifree, Conductor Theodore Mullin and other trainmen before a magistrate. Their release was ordered by the mayor and it is stated the officer who made the arrest has disappeared.

The train was delayed for half an hour. Engineer Manifree has already instituted suit for damages.

ISSUE OF PANAMA CANAL BONDS PROPOSED

Administration Has Project to Sell $60,000,000 of Government Securities.

WOULD EQUALIZE THE COST

Congress Will Be Asked to Authorize the Transaction That Will Defer Some of the Expense of the Waterway for a Future Generation.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.

On the theory that the present generation should not be required to pay a disproportionately large share of the cost of the Panama canal, and that the deficit in the treasury is a good thing to get rid of, it is proposed by the administration to have a bond issue covering the outlay already made and redeemable in the same manner that the bonds to be issued for the raising of funds for the completion of the canal are to be taken up.

The total appropriations to date on account of the canal project have been $60,000,000. Of this sum $40,000,000 was paid to the Panama Canal Company, the French corporation which owned the works before the United States purchased them; $10,000,000 went to the republic of Panama for the use of the canal zone, and $10,000,000 was appropriated for the inauguration of the work under the auspices of this government.

Before the canal is completed at least $200,000,000 will have been expended, and it is the opinion of the President and the secretary of the treasury and other officials of the administration that nearly one-third of the aggregate expense should not be borne by the people who are supporting the government at this time. They believe the cost should be more equitably distributed among the present and future generations, and their idea now is to ask congress to authorize the issue of bonds covering the $60,000,000 thus far paid out. It is intended that the proceeds from the sale of such bonds be put into the treasury, so that the big hole left there by the payments to the French company and the Panama republic will be filled up.

The scheme is to have the bonds run for 30 years, and if the administration does not change its mind on the subject, suitable recommendations will be made to congress in December. It already has been determined that eventually the government shall be reimbursed for all its expenditures on the project by the tolls that are collected from vessels which use the waterway.

With $60,000,000 turned into the treasury from the sale of the proposed bonds the administration would not have to worry about a deficit at the end of this fiscal year, neither would it need to entertain any anxiety over an excess of expenditures over receipts for the fiscal year or two following. There would be no necessity of congress bothering about framing new legislation so as to provide sufficient revenues to meet the running expenses of the government next winter nor the succeeding winter. From a financial standpoint "Uncle Sam" would have easy sailing.

It is understood that the idea of a bond issue for the $60,000,000 was conceived by Secretary Shaw, and many officials regard it as a splendid financial proposition.

ARE UNITED IN DEATH.

Prominent Old Couple, Residents of McDonald, Die Within a Few Hours of Each Other.

Side by side the bodies of Dr. and Mrs. August Weitzel, two of the best-known residents of McDonald, lie at their home in North avenue, where they died yesterday within a few hours of each other. Mrs. Weitzel died yesterday morning and the husband died in the afternoon. Mr. Weitzel's death, it is said by the physicians, was caused by his grief over his wife's fatal illness. A double funeral will be held at the First Presbyterian church next Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Weitzel, each of whom was 67 years of age, were born in Germany. They were married July 4, 1862, and came to the United States five years later. They first settled near Imperial, and about 15 years ago came to McDonald.

CUT MORE SKIN FROM HIS LEGS THAN HE PROMISED TO GIVE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SPOKANE, WASH., Oct. 15.—George A. Lovejoy, an Elk who was selected to furnish cuticle to save a fellow Elk's wife, Mrs. Fred B. Searles, suffering from severe burns, yesterday brought suit against C. P. Thomas for $10,000 as the value of 50 inches of skin which he says the doctor peeled off his legs while under chloroform.

Mr. Lovejoy asserts it was represented to him that the surgeon would take from his thighs only two or three strips of cuticle three or four inches long and three-fourths of an inch wide. After the operation Lovejoy found the fronts of his legs between knee and hip were stripped of skin, and it was 10 days before he was able to leave the hospital.

Mrs. Searles was burned in an accident with a lamp at Lewiston, Idaho, and was brought to St. Luke's hospital, Spokane, for treatment. A number of Elks volunteered to furnish cuticle to cover the burned places, but Lovejoy proved such a promising subject that while under chloroform all the skin necessary, except some supplied by Mrs. Searles' husband and brother, was peeled off his legs.

The grafting operation was successful, but the woman was so weakened from long illness that she died.

SAYS ALLEGHENY'S SHAME IS DUE TO NEIGHBOR

TOWN NAME IS RIDICULED

The Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach Vigorously Attacks the Laxity of the Municipal Officials and Citizens, Claiming the Latter Are Soft in Moral Fiber.

Under the sermon theme of "Allegheny and the New Jerusalem," the Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach dwelt upon the immorality of that city from the pulpit of the Reformed Church of the Ascension in Allegheny last evening, and declared that the North Side is being used by the impious of Pittsburgh as a ward in which to spend their riotous nights. He asked that the people arise and purge the city of its pollution and restore to it a good name. He said in part:

"If what we hear is true, we are unable to say that we are citizens of no mean city. Far and wide, Allegheny is a byword among the people, not only of this county, but of this western section of Pennsylvania. Verily, Allegheny is one of the least of the cities, if our standards be human and moral. Pittsburgh, which vents its lust and brutishness in two of our lower wards, laughs derisively at our impotency. Real estate is hard to sell where the neighborhood is noted for its self-destructive tendency. Public office is all bound up with the traffic in souls, and the inside of police station and jail cells is all too closely associated with the powers that be. Church members vote as if deprived of brains and morals on election day, and we ministers pull in inglorious platitudes while the city goes downward to destruction.

Allegheny Has a Bad Name.

"Is this too strong? Rather is it too faint an impression of the real conditions. We have a bad name, but we have a more odious character. I know that we are respectable in our homes, and [illegible] we have three theological schools [illegible] many institutions for the propagation of the kindly virtues. But we are [illegible] moral fiber nevertheless, [illegible] compensations for neglect [illegible] which require rugged assertion is kind and gentle softness of manner and deed. How many rogues are kind? How many give of their possessions, and grace charitable boards and societies, and go along with the tide of rottenness? We are appropriating only one side of our ability in citizenship, only one side of the gospel. The time is at hand when the more aggressive qualities must come into expression. For, friends, what we need is not more of this thing we call charity! What we need is the justice of decency, honesty and truth.

"With our population it is little short of disgraceful that we cannot say to the elder and larger city that we will not permit the impious among them to spend their riotous nights in our immoral districts; that we tolerate a district which is the safe harbor of the cut-throats and criminals of all classes; that we have not given a united response to the cry from the ministers to purge the city of its pollution.

The City Across the Way.

"We are the victim of the city across the way; we are the easy prey of the cowards and sneaks who seek refuge for their lechery in places safely removed from their homes. Arise, then, to the crying shame and stand for the restoration of a clean character for this city of ours! Make bold the demand for a city conscience! Hunger insatiably for a community which will be no temptation for wives and daughters and men, young and old.

"Now, elections may command our interest and we may vote for the best man that can be got, but that will never be the solution of the problem. We must love the virtues for our city's sake which we love for our wives' and daughters' and sons' sakes. We do not live for our families merely, but for our brothers' families, and they are the city. Every man who is a victim of the conditions here is a brother of Christ, and our brother; every woman who has forgotten her mother and father is our sister, and a sister of Christ. And if we do the least thing, not merely to drag these unfortunates down, but to impede their progress upward to manhood and womanhood, we are partners in the crime that infest their lives.

"Our chief business today is not to cry out in real or simulated moral distress, but rather to glow with the fire of the virtues which will make this a city of God. We must overcome evil with good.

One Treatment Will Not Suffice.

"Allegheny has lost her birthright in the things which make a city beautiful and good. She has become a ward of the other city, which assumes an attitude of indifference at one time and scoffing at another. We are as indigent in moral affairs as is this wayward sister city, and her example is discouraging and baneful.

"Why can we not, though smaller numerically, be David-like in morality and religion, and make this neighbor Goliath not a victim of our moral strength, but a co-operative city for the glory of God and the good of men?

"A city, any city, is simply a single individual writ large. The things which flare from the public prints as civic ills are in your being and mine. If we as individuals were less crafty, less licentious, less dishonest, we should see the composite picture—our city—in like condition.

"It is not surprising that with our turpitude we are also very timid. It is not remarkable that we hear men of this city mention Allegheny as their home with sotto voce. Cowardice goes hand in hand with immorality of a more heinous name. And shame does likewise. But there is hope in shame. To root out these sins we must begin with our individual lives, then our homes, and the city will soon be able to show signs of health. We are going to make it a fair city with a fair name. But we shall not do it in a day or in an election. We are too ill to recover with one treatment."

LATROBE, Oct. 15.—John Fritch, an Italian miner, had his skull crushed by being hit over the head with a piece of gas pipe in a drunken fight this morning with John and Alex. Succo, also Italians, at Bradenville, a mining town three miles west of this town. Fritch is in an unconscious condition at his home and will probably die.

Mike Nunzio of Beatty and his wife Mary were both shot yesterday afternoon by Tony Climent, after a drunken orgy lasting all morning. Mrs. Nunzio will probably die. Climent was locked up.

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 15.—Salvator Duttio, aged 18, an Italian, was found this morning along the Erie tracks at West Salem under circumstances which indicate murder.

EMPTIES COMING UP.

Several Steamers With Large Tows Will Arrive Here Today.

Slight as the rise is in the local rivers it will be of considerable value to shipping interests in one respect. Boats that have been tied up for weeks at points down the Ohio will get pretty close to the Pittsburgh harbor before this stage is exhausted.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company this morning will send crews to Marietta to bring back the Coal City, Valiant and Hoxie, that have been tied up there with large tows of empties. The Alice Brown is lying just below New Cumberland and will be manned by a crew sent from Pittsburgh today.

The wickets at the Merrill No. 6 dam were dropped yesterday with the result that a good stage for light navigation is provided for 24 hours at least. Because of the shallow channel between Davis Island dam and Sewickley it is scarcely likely any of the boats will get above the latter place on this rise. The Sam Brown, Charley Brown, Joseph Walton and Exporter left Wheeling Saturday night with tows of empties, and are expected in the harbor this afternoon, as they will likely be able to come right through.

TOKYO, Oct. 15.—Baron Hayashi, when interviewed by a Jiji representative at Osaka, said that the uprisings in Korea are not serious, the irregular mobs being without leaders. He declared that the peninsula is now practically a dependency of Japan. Adequate capital and wise foresight would certainly develop the natural resources of the country and make Korea the source of considerable wealth.

Prominent New Yorker Found on Freight Car After Mysterious Experience.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Dr. Arthur St. Clair Kundsen, a member of the Harvard and City clubs and socially well-known in this city, was found early today without his clothing, on top of a car of a freight train on the New York Central railroad this side of the city limits of Yonkers. He was taken immediately to St. Joseph's hospital, as he was suffering from exposure and was in a critical condition. All the information the physicians could get out of him was that the last thing he remembered he was riding in a cab in Broadway. He said he had just returned from a trip to Japan.

About the same time the physician was picked up a policeman found clothing said to be his lying on the grass alongside the speedway, under the Washington bridge.

The police of this city and Yonkers are greatly puzzled over the case, and say it is one of the most mysterious they have had to deal with in a long time. Various theories are advanced to account for the doctor's condition. One of them is that he may have been drugged, taken in a cab to the lonely spot where his clothing was found, stripped of his attire and then thrown into the river. Brought to consciousness by the cold water, it is thought he may have struggled to the other shore, climbed on the bank and then got on to a passing freight train. Detectives are at work on the case.

FOXY TRICK IS PLAYED TO GET COUNTY'S BOUNTY

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 15.—The recent decision of the superior court that the act of placing a bounty on certain wild animals, such as fox, wild cat and minx, is unconstitutional, will save much money for taxpayers. It is said that during the past year the records show Beaver county has had to pay $400 for fox scalps alone. That much of this has been paid out to persons who have got it by fraud is asserted positively by a well-known sportsman.

In reference to trickery practices, the sportsman said: "The idea of 400 foxes being killed in Beaver county in one year is preposterous. The bounty of $1 per scalp with ears attached was a temptation. I have the acknowledgment of a country boy that it is customary to kill an old fox early in the season, skin it carefully, then take the hide from time to time, cut out a pair of ears from it with a bit of skin attached as a scalp, go before a justice of the peace who is nearsighted, present the bogus ears, swear to them, get his order for $1, go before the commissioners and get the money."

That many dollars have been paid for ears and scalps manufactured from old fox skins there is little doubt.

WILL EXTEND THE LINE.

Baltimore & Ohio to Connect Little Kanawha With Senator Elkins' Coal and Coke Railroad.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Senator Stephen B. Elkins, who is here today on personal business, is authority for the statement that the Little Kanawha railroad, which is part of the holdings of the Little Kanawha syndicate, much discussed recently in connection with the Ramsey-Gould trouble, is to be extended to a connection with the Coal and Coke railroad owned by Senator Elkins and ex-Senator Henry G. Davis at Burnsville.

Nearly $1,000,000 worth of improvements were done on this road before it was abandoned by the Wabash, and it penetrates some of the richest coal fields in the state. Senator Elkins says the extension will be built at once by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

TRAINS KILL THREE MEN.

Brakeman, With Foot Caught in Guard Rail, Is Unable to Escape from Approaching Engine.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—Within a few hours three men met death on railroads in or near this city. Mark Coryell, a Pennsylvania railroad yard brakeman, whose family resides in Sunbury, caught his foot in a guard rail at Union depot this morning and a locomotive struck and killed him before he could escape from its path.

The body of a man whose name is believed to be Harry Kroh, residence unknown, was found on the Philadelphia & Reading railway near Derry Church, this county, this morning. Last night Pennsylvania railroad track walkers found the mangled remains of an unknown man in Steelton.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Nephew of Gen. Hancock is Accused of Causing the Death of a Young Woman in Maryland.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Winfield Scott Hancock, 43 years old, a nephew of the late Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock, was arrested at Hyattsville, Md., near here, late last night, charged with the murder of Emma Smallwood, a young white woman employed as a domestic in the Hancock household, who died as the result of an operation. Hancock disclaims any guilt, and declares that the woman left his home on Monday, but returned on Thursday and died that night.

HIS ASSASSINATION RUMORED IN PARIS

PRINCE LOUIS NAPOLEON.

RUMORED ASSASSINATION OF LOUIS NAPOLEON

Paris Hears That the Second Member of the Bonaparte Family Is Slain.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, Oct. 15.—No further details have been received from Tiflis in confirmation of the "Petit Caporal" rumor printed this morning to the effect that Prince Louis Napoleon, governor general of the Caucasus, has been assassinated. In some circles the report is given credence, in others the lack of confirmation is cited as making the rumor valueless.

Prince Louis Napoleon was the second son of the late Prince Jerome Napoleon and Princess Clothilde. He was born in 1864. His movements in the last few years have been of especial interest to France in view of the fact that, next to his brother, Prince Victor, he is the head of the Bonaparte family, although he has never declared by word or action that he had any plans against France.

His prominence in Russian affairs created a feeling of real affection for him among the French people. For many years he was a lieutenant colonel in one of the czar's crack cavalry regiments at Nijni-Nougorod. In 1890 he was promoted to the command of a dragoon regiment at Warsaw. In 1898 he was colonel of the czarina's lancers. From his father, Prince Jerome, he inherited a large fortune.

DR. PARRY'S FAREWELL.

During Sermon He Makes Reference to Postal Received Several Years Ago.

The Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church was filled to its capacity yesterday morning to hear the Rev. Thomas Parry, D. D., preach his farewell sermon. Many present were disappointed because Dr. Parry did not refer to the troubles that for years have divided the church. Only in one instance did the minister refer to an unpleasant incident which occurred about two years ago, when he received a postal signed "A Citizen."

This postal which Dr. Parry read to the congregation today contained among other sentences the following: "The citizens of Wilkinsburg desire to give you a donation of rotten eggs, or will give you free transportation to heaven or some other place, as we are desirous of freeing the city of your kind. The writer of the postal later learned to know Dr. Parry and changed his opinion. The theme of his farewell address was "Abiding in the Love of Christ."

Franklin Pastor Says Exposures of Graft Should Not Lead Public to Pessimistic Views.

FRANKLIN, Oct. 15.—In a sermon preached here today the Rev. B. H. Beattie of the First Presbyterian church, referring to the recent life insurance scandals, said that for every unsound institution unearthed 20 substantial ones would be found, and whenever a rascal was discovered a host of honest men would rise up to take his place.

"We should not allow these exposures of wrongdoing among men in high places to lead us to become pessimistic of our institutions," said Mr. Beattie. "There are still honest insurance men and beef packers, just as Philadelphia still boasts of a few honorable politicians."

Doesn't Know What Hit Him.

William Bossey, colored, of Ferry street, Sharpsburg, was found unconscious in Stanton street, Allegheny, yesterday morning, with a wound on his head thought to have been caused by a blunt instrument. He was taken to St. John's hospital and cannot remember how he was injured.

FOILS AN ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

STAMFORD, CONN., Oct. 15.—An attempt to wreck the westbound express of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad which leaves here at 3:12 and is due in New York at 4:05 was foiled this afternoon a few moments before the train was due. George H. Scofield, a tower operator, while walking the track to his home, found an obstruction in the shape of a big bar of iron on the track which, it is said, would have wrecked the train.

The bar of iron was 15 inches long and about three inches thick and was firmly wedged against one of the rails of the third track on which the express goes. The bar was imbedded in stones and it was with difficulty that Scofield pulled it out. He took it to police headquarters after reporting at the station and a search for the would-be train wreckers was begun.

FATHER KILLS HIS SON'S WIFE WHILE IN A HACK

Murderer Then Commits Suicide. Couple Had Registered at Sioux City Hotel as Husband and Wife.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SIOUX CITY, IA., Oct. 15.—While driving from a hotel to the railroad station this afternoon E. H. Darrow, 60 years old, shot and killed his son's wife, Lillian Darrow, and then shot himself. The driver, without stopping to investigate, drove to a police station. Both occupants of the carriage were found sitting upright on opposite seats, dead.

E. H. Darrow and his daughter-in-law came to the Arcade hotel October 10, registering as "E. H. Darrow and wife." They went away but returned again Saturday and this afternoon started for the railroad station, ostensibly to take a train for Sioux Falls, the home of Mr. Darrow's son.

Letters were found on the woman's body, unsigned, but apparently from her husband, indicating that they had had trouble. The writer of the letters protested undying love for the woman, and said that he was dying of a broken heart.

DEMONSTRATION AT FUNERAL.

Removal of the Remains of Prince Troubetskoy Causes a Street Panic at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 15.—The body of the late Prince Troubetskoy was conveyed to the Nikolai station today for removal to Moscow. A vast multitude and deputations of students followed the cortege. When the procession was nearing the station a squadron of gendarmes appeared, and almost at the same moment a revolver shot rang out from the crowd causing a panic. The gendarmes drew their swords and dispersed the crowd, mourners and spectators leaving quietly in all directions. The gendarmes did not use their swords, and as far as can be ascertained no one was injured.

THREE MEN WHO ARE MAKING ERIE GREAT

Clark Olds. John S. Rilling. William Hardwick.

These are likenesses of three of the best-known citizens of Erie, who were active in the entertainment of the Pittsburghers identified with the Lake Erie and Ohio River Ship Canal Company during the latters' visit to the Gem City of the Lakes last Friday and Saturday. Mr. Rilling was toastmaster at the banquet. He is president of the Erie board of trade and is identified with public-spirited movements of many kinds. Clark Olds is pre-eminently the man who is active in the harbor interests of the city. William Hardwick ranks with the best that Erie produces. Active in many directions, he has been mayor, and for years has been identified most prominently in the control of the Erie water works. In a report of the Underwriters association, Erie was classed as second in the United States in its water supply and fire protection.

ITALY CONCILIATORY TOWARD OTHER POWERS

Effort at Rome to Bring About Good Feeling Between France and Germany.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, Oct. 15.—In connection with the alleged revelations regarding the events which preceded the resignation of the French minister, M. Delcasse, the following semi-official communication has been issued here:

"The action taken by Italy at Paris, London and Berlin in connection with the Moroccan affair was absolutely friendly and conciliatory and in the interests of peace. The action was not fruitless as owing to it France accepted the conference proposed by Germany, which the former originally opposed, while Italy was able to induce Germany to agree to the fundamental conditions claimed to be discussed by the conference. Foreign Minister Tittoni communicated this to M. Barrere, the French ambassador to Italy and nothing else."

It is also understood that the Italian government continues to use its influence at Paris and Berlin for an understanding between France and Germany. The relations between Italy and France continue to be most friendly, the French government having emphatically denied a phrase attributed to Premier Rouvier which was considered disrespectful toward Italy. Indeed, as one evidence of these good relations, France will send a naval squadron to Genoa to greet King Victor Emmanuel, who is going there October 28 to inaugurate the new harbor works.

OFFENDERS MANY BUT FEW ARE PENALIZED

Those Haled Before Magistrates Yesterday in Majority of Cases Got Off With Reprimands.

"Gust" Basilees, M. Resbither and Paul Keltchlok were each fined $50 and costs at Central police station yesterday morning. They were arrested in a house at Fourth avenue and Chancery lane. Neighbors had complained that they kept a disorderly house. Mrs. Mary Neelen testified that they kept open house all the time and had crowds there who danced and sang and kept everybody awake. The defendants had nothing to say and paid their fines.

Gus Anderson, a Swede, who said he was looking for a job, was found loafing in Supt. Wallace's office at the public safety building early in the morning. He had a loaded revolver and a big knife but denied any intention of using them. He was sentenced to 30 days to the workhouse in default of a fine of $25.

Frank Nolten was found in Water street with a broken ankle. It was thought he had been assaulted, but he maintained he had fallen. He was sent to the Homeopathic hospital. There were 58 prisoners at the Central station hearing, 35 of whom were discharged.

Magistrate Negley was in a lenient mood yesterday morning when 42 prisoners from the Oakland and East End station houses were brought before him for hearing. He discharged 28 of the prisoners, and 11 were allowed to go with small fines. Anthony Coleman was fined $50 or 90 days. He has been drunk for the past week and wound up his debauch yesterday morning by going to the house of William Hamilton, where he started to make kindling wood of the furniture. James Magill asked and was given 30 days, as he said he had no home.

Jack Welsh, suspected of stealing a roll of calico from in front of a Butler street store, was fined $25, with the alternative of 60 days in the workhouse, at the Lawrenceville police station yesterday morning, by Magistrate Kane.

Eighteen common offenders were before Magistrate Moke at the Penn avenue station yesterday morning. A fine of $1 was the highest penalty imposed at the hearing.

Among the 11 prisoners given a hearing before Magistrate Harkins at No. 3 police station in Allegheny, yesterday, was Michael Hanan of Market street. Late Saturday night he got into a fight in Beaver avenue with some foreigners and got an ugly cut in the side of the head. None of the men he was fighting with could be found and he was discharged. At Allegheny Central station Magistrate Abernathey disposed of 10 cases. Edward Shall of Veto street got 30 days to the workhouse for abusing his wife and children.

RESUME BREAKFAST.

Bride and Groom Who Went to Canada to Avoid Pranks of Friends Are Re-Captured.

A wedding breakfast which was left unfinished two weeks ago was resumed and concluded last night at the home of Andrew Snyder, 10 Gardner street, Allegheny. A fortnight ago Mr. Snyder who is a member of the Wilson-Snyder Manufacturing Company, was wedded to Miss Estelle Wellte, and in order to avoid being victimized by a delegation with deep-laid plans, they avoided the wedding breakfast and "absconded" to Canada, where they have toured two weeks.

Last night it was learned that they were to arrive at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station, and they were met by a delegation of 25 friends armed with cow-bells and several bushels of confetti. The bride and groom were marched up Smithfield street and along Fifth avenue to the Sixth street bridge, headed by a pickaninny carrying an opened umbrella bearing a sign: "Big Mass Meeting Tonight." A cow-bell chorus attracted further attention. Arriving at the home of Mr. Snyder the interrupted wedding breakfast was resumed.

CLAIMS BIG PLURALITY FOR MAYOR M'CLELLAN

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—According to the calculation of a Tammany political expert and given to Mayor McClellan, the following shows how the vote at the coming election will be divided among the three candidates for mayor: Estimated registration, 625,000; estimated vote, 550,000; McClellan, 45 per cent, 302,500; Ivins, 30 per cent, 165,000; Hearst, 15 per cent, 82,500; McClellan's majority, 55,000.

Compared with the figures of other elections, when three tickets were in the field, Tammany's forecast is not reliable. Since and including the election of 1886, there have been three campaigns having three active and enthusiastic participants. In each one, the combined vote of the other two tickets would have been sufficient to defeat the victorious candidates.

Persons who are inclined to bet on the election, are bearing in mind that New York is a city of political surprises, and they cite as an example the tremendous vote polled by Seth Low, when he defeated Edward M. Shepard in 1901. There was a big surprise, also, when Mayor Strong was elected Republican mayor by a plurality over Gilroy of nearly 50,000.

Still another surprise came two years ago, when Mayor McClellan defeated the fusion ticket by approximately 65,000. To many astute politicians a study of the figures of New York's elections leads them to believe that there is to be a big surprise of some kind this fall.

RESCUING PARTY NEARS SIX ENTOMBED MINERS

Official of Clyde Company Believes There Is Yet Hope They May Be Found Alive Tomorrow Night.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 15.—"There is a faint hope that the six men imprisoned in the burning Fredericktown mine are still alive," said an official of the Clyde Coal Company this evening. It was stated this evening that the rescuers are within 350 feet of the place where the imprisoned miners are supposed to be, and it is believed they will be reached by tomorrow morning.

The rescuing party has been divided into three shifts, taking an eight-hour turn each. In this way the work is kept up day and night. Mine superintendent William Gartley has personal supervision of the work. The fire has gained no headway today, being still 1,650 feet from the entrance to the mine.

Miners from the Dilworth collieries and other mines have volunteered for service and as soon as a member of the rescue party is exhausted his place is immediately taken by a fresh volunteer. Mine officials stated today they would prosecute the work of digging into the mine until either the men were found or some trace of their dead bodies was discovered.

TOLD PRESIDENT FIRST.

Czar of Russia Again Shows Appreciation of Mr. Roosevelt's Success in Securing Peace.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 15.—As a mark of appreciation of the part he took in bringing about the conference at Portsmouth and the resultant peace, President Roosevelt was the first person to be notified by the Russian government that Emperor Nicholas had ratified the treaty.

As soon as the emperor's signature had been affixed to the instrument and before the treaty had been brought back from Peterhof for the counter signature of Foreign Minister Lamsdorf the news was sent directly to the president. Official notification by the government, according to the foreign office, followed several hours later, when Count Lamsdorf had completed the ratification by his signature.

TO MAKE FIGHT ON ANNEXATION

Aspinwall Delegation Will Appear Before Pittsburgh Council Committee Today.

FILTER MEN IN PIANO FACTORY

A delegation of Aspinwall officials and property owners, headed by the burgess and the borough solicitor, will appear this morning before a special committee of Pittsburgh select council to protest against annexation of the borough with the city. A meeting of the committee has been called for 11:30 o'clock.

The committee is composed of Chairman Frederick Fichtel, Dr. E. R. Walters and P. J. Barry. Dr. Walters said last night that he had been notified that the burgess and the borough solicitor, with a strong representation of the property owners of the borough, would be present today to lodge a vigorous objection to the proposed annexation of Aspinwall to Pittsburgh.

The committee was appointed to ascertain public sentiment in Aspinwall regarding annexation prior to acting finally on an ordinance granting the consent of this city to the consolidation. The ordinance is pending in select council, having passed the common branch. When it reached the upper branch objections were raised because it was found that a strong popular sentiment existed in Aspinwall against annexation.

Director Bigelow is responsible for the move to annex Aspinwall. The director frankly admits that his primary object is to annex the borough so that the several thousand of employes at the Pittsburgh filter plant can be voted for the administration candidate for mayor of Pittsburgh next February. Therefore, a petition signed by five per cent of the voters of the borough was presented to court. Director Bigelow was back of the petition and also of the ordinance introduced in councils.

The opponents of annexation do not want the question of annexation to come to a vote in the borough, for it is their fear that hundreds of foreigners employed at the filter plant may be voted against them to carry the election for annexation.

Councilman Walters, who says he is opposed to the annexation because the people of Aspinwall are opposed to it, states that a large building in Aspinwall which was formerly used as a piano factory, is occupied as a boarding house by men working on the filter plant, and that many others claim their residence within the borough.

"After our council committee has heard the statements of the representative citizens and property owners of Aspinwall on annexation, I don't see how the committee can make a report to councils in favor of the annexation," said Dr. Walters. "Aspinwall has nothing now to gain by annexation. The borough has paved streets, water works, electric lights and all the improvements the town needs. It has also low taxation.

"The delegation from Aspinwall that will appear before the council committee tomorrow morning will present a remonstrance against annexation signed by over 200 property owners of the borough. I suppose the other side will have a delegation from Aspinwall present to advocate annexation."

DEFENDS NAPLES' HONOR, GETS TWO UGLY WOUNDS

Warm Blood of Italy Dyes Poplar Alley When Argument Ends in Fight.

Three Italians engaged in a shooting affray in Poplar alley yesterday afternoon and two of them were wounded. The participants were Louis Sculi, aged 22; Annunziato Sculi, aged 24, and Carmencini Achille, aged 25, all of 1413 Poplar alley. Achille was wounded twice in the face and head and was taken to Passavant hospital. It is expected he will die. Annunziato Sculi was shot in the temple, but his wound was slight. After it was dressed at the Homeopathic hospital he was taken to the Central station with his brother, Louis.

The Sculi brothers are from Calabria, the scene of the recent earthquakes in Italy. Achille hails from Naples. About three weeks ago the men had a dispute about these provinces. The Sculi brothers are said to have told Achille they would settle with him, and Achille is alleged to have replied that he would defend himself in a manner that would be no disgrace to Naples.

Yesterday afternoon the Sculi brothers called Achille out of his room into the alley. Achille went down stairs with a revolver in his pocket. Achille alleges that Annunziato Sculi caught him about the body while Louis took the revolver from his pocket. Achille told the police that Louis fired at him. The first shot missed him and struck Annunziato Sculi on the temple, inflicting a slight scalp wound.

Louis, it is alleged, fired two shots at Achille. One entered the left cheek and the other penetrated his right ear and came out in the back of his neck. The Sculi brothers say that Achille first shot Annunziato Sculi and that Louis then took the revolver and shot him.

The shooting caused a great deal of excitement in the neighborhood. Special Officers Terry and Hughes, Detectives Lafly and Leff and Capt. Bartley hurried to the scene and placed the men under arrest. Capt. Bartley and Alderman Anderson went to the Passavant hospital and took Achille's disposition. The men are all plasterers and have been working in a building at Fourteenth street and Penn avenue.

MIGHTY HUNGRY HORSE.

Second-Hand Barrel Dealer Charged With Cruelty to Animals—Horse Not Fed for a Week.

James McGeary's horse had to be fed carefully yesterday, for, according to the police, it was the first meal the animal had in six days. The horse drank as if it had never tasted water, and it would have eaten itself to death had not the police doled out the rations with caution.

McGeary, who is a dealer in second-hand barrels on the South Side, was arrested on a warrant charging him with cruelty to animals, sworn out by Inspector Werner. Neighbors had complained to the police that the horse had been in the locked stable a whole week and neither McGeary nor anyone else had fed or watered it.

McGeary was later released on a forfeit. He told the police that his horse got sick at the beginning of the week and he has secured, temporarily, a job with J. Gaffey, another empty barrel dealer; that he gave the key of his stable to a neighbor and arranged with the man that he was to feed and water the horse. Gaffey said he heard McGeary make these arrangements.

May Install Meters in Homestead.

Thomas L. Davis, chairman of the Homestead council, has called a special meeting for tonight to consider the proposition to compel residents of the borough to use water by meter. The borough owns its waterworks and it is said that enormous quantities of water are wasted. The majority of the residents are renters who, it is declared, will use as much water under the meter system as they do now since the bills are paid by the owners. The Homestead landlords are opposed to the plan.

Dedicate New Church.

The cornerstone of the new St. Francis Roman Catholic church, Ninth avenue and McClure street, Homestead, was laid yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Vicar General Joseph Suhr of the Pittsburgh diocese, who delivered an address in German. The address in English was delivered by the Rev. Father Joseph Bauer of St. Peter's church, South Side. The boys' vested choir of St. Peter's church sang. The new structure is to cost $50,000.

FIRE IN PENN AVENUE A HARD ONE TO SUBDUE

Outfitting Establishment of Arnfeld & Sons Damaged by an Early Morning Blaze.

The men's outfitting store of Arnfeld & Sons at 1111-1119 Penn avenue, was damaged to the extent of $15,000 by fire and water early yesterday morning. Shortly after 4 o'clock Frank Gohl, a janitor who lives on the fourth floor of the building, was awakened by the smell of smoke. He made his way to the street, told Officer John Kornbauer that the place was on fire, and a still alarm was sent to No. 15 engine company. When the firemen arrived it was seen that it was too much of a fire for one company to handle and a regular alarm was sent out.

The fire was in the underwear stock room, a subdivision in the rear of the second floor, and had gained some headway and worked down beneath the floor in a way that made it difficult to get at. The heavy smoke bothered the firemen, several of them being temporarily overcome, while crossed electric wires were another impediment, two of the men being knocked down by shocks they received. It was not until the floor of the second story and the ceiling of the first had been pretty well cut away that the fire was extinguished.

While the fire was all on the second floor, the greatest loss was on the first floor. Piles of clothing arranged for sale were underneath the burning store-room and these suffered extensively from water and embers which fell all over them. The loss is estimated at $2,000 on the building and $13,000 on the stock, fully covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated from crossed wires.

Box 91 was pulled for an alarm of fire at 7:50 a. m. yesterday for a blaze at the grocery store of Max Rosenthal, 1306 Fifth avenue. An overheated stove is said to have set some shelving on fire. The loss is $50.

This Last Week of the Exposition will mean a very busy week in this store. Thousands of people from the towns surrounding Pittsburg make it a point to visit us during the closing week of the Exposition, and this, taken together with the heavy buying influenced by snappy Autumn weather, will make each day a busy scene in this store.

Every department is thoroughly well prepared, everybody connected with the seventy and more departments of this big store is keyed up to the highest pitch in expectation of a rushing business.

Some of the more important items to engage your attention today—

Christmas Embroidery.

Many people in presenting linens have monograms, crests and cyphers embroidered upon them. We are headquarters for this kind of work. We have it done in this country to avoid paying any duty. It can be executed here just as well as it can be done abroad.

In order to assure prompt delivery of Christmas work it is desirable that all orders be placed as soon as possible.

Orders taken in our Linen Department, main floor, East.

Exclusive Dress Woolens

One of the fads of our Dress Goods Section is to get hold of some exclusive material that no other store can get; that is, no other store in this city. For women who like to see and closely examine exclusive dress stuffs we have a line of London Tailorings in the most exclusive color combinations that can be produced. These combinations are artistic, they were laboriously studied out, they are the finest conceptions of English weaves. The goods are woven from pure Australian yarns. There could not be a better material because no better could be woven. As we have said, the patterns and colors are exclusive. They cannot be found anywhere else in the city. 58 inches wide. Several fine grades at these prices: $3.50, $4.00, $4.50 a yard.

In the matter of popular priced dress goods we allow no offers to excel any that we can make. In proof of the inexpensiveness of our fine collection of popular priced dress woolens take the following:

Practical and Decorative Suggestions in Household Linens.

Who was it that said "The housekeeper who buys linens that are part cotton is not a friend to herself?" Well, it doesn't much matter who said it, the critic should have been more charitable, for it is not every woman who is sufficiently expert in her judgment of linens to detect cotton when it masquerades as linens. There's an alternative, however, and that is to buy linens from a reliable establishment.

Here you can rely implicitly on what we say regarding the linens we carry.

Our Popular Priced Millinery.

Today's popular priced millinery offers are vested in three excellent groups:

Group No. 1, $15.00.
Group No. 2, $10.00.
Group No. 3, $7.50.

These three prices include hats in all black, in the new plum shades, in all white, in gunmetal, navy blue and other modish tints. In the lot are French felt and velvet hats richly trimmed—small, medium and large.

A special effort has been made to exhibit millinery at popular prices that would meet the tastes of critical women, and these three groups are the result. Ordinarily their cost would be about double, some being imported and others from leading New York modistes.

New Furniture for 25 Per Cent Less.

People seem to want furnitnre, for last week's notices regarding the New York Century Company's stock met with instantaneous response. We admit that 25 per cent under regular prices was a drawing card. It could not be otherwise. Very few householders will sidestep such an offer. As a rule prices in this city for furniture are rather steep. In our store it is priced, like every other kind of merchandise offered throughout our seventy departments, on a very close-to-cost basis, and when we give out the rather stirring news that we are enabled to sell new furniture for 25 per cent under regular prices, and that furniture from such a noted factory as that of the Century Co., is it small wonder that people jump at the opportunity?

Plenty of good choice left for this week, for we purchased several carloads, and herewith is a short list showing the reduced prices—

Congressman James Francis Burke made an effective reply to the political attacks on the district attorney's office. During the first year of this term nearly 1,000 more cases were prepared for trial than ever before during a like period. These included a number of the difficult Allegheny graft cases. There is where the shoe pinches. The prosecution of official graft and vice protection is naturally irritating to the apologists for maladministration.

There has been a fresh outbreak of the Tartars and Armenians in southern Russia and several villages have been destroyed. As in the previous manifestation the Russian authorities have been powerless and the war may go on until the belligerents treat with each other for peace. In fact, the turbulent spirit is so much in evidence about Moscow and St. Petersburg that few troops can be spared to bring order in more remote parts of the empire.

When Police Inspector Robinson turned in his keys and badge, denounced the rotten police administration and quit the service, it was not for political effect. It was because the misadministration of police affairs had become intolerable. Will the apologists for "Buck" Wallace turn their mud batteries on Mr. Robinson now, and assert his criticism of the police superintendent was inspired because Wallace attacked the district attorney's office?

Grave doubts are expressed in London medical circles concerning the efficacy of Dr. Behring's new "cure" for tuberculosis. Naturally. There have been so many of these "cures" and none curative. There is much more hope for the prevention of tuberculosis by rational living than for its "cure" by any nostrums after it has developed. American physicians cling to fresh air and nutritious food as the best agents with which to fight the "white plague."

Entry of a fresh batch of suits against Philadelphia contractors and politicians while former suits are withheld from trial looks like playing to the galleries for campaign purposes. In our judgment, however, one conviction, on unimpeachable evidence, would do Judge Gordon's political movement more good than a barrel full of unproved indictments. The public has grown weary of suits brought in campaign times that are never carried to trial.

While the war in the far east may not be officially ended until ratifications have been exchanged, the Japanese are crowding the limit in con[illegible] the capture of foreign vessels, alleged to be carrying contraband of war. One American was taken yesterday, three Englishmen and one German last week. Of course, this is no very serious matter and Japan may be expected to deal leniently in the final proceedings, but it would have been wiser and more generous to have avoided the irritation.

Candidate Berry in his McKeesport speech accused J. Lee Plummer, while chairman of the house appropriations committee, with holding down state appropriations so the banks would not have to call loans made to politicians. So! The appropriations of last session were the largest in the history of the state. This despite the fact that Gov. Pennypacker vetoed some bills to keep within the probable state revenues. What did Berry want? His newspaper organs and John Marron are working the other alley with the cry of extravagance. Obviously the Democratic talent, to paraphrase Davy Crockett, are missing them going and coming.

It is noted the mid-continent oil field has passed Ohio and Indiana in the volume of its production and is but 14,000 barrels a day behind the New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky fields combined. The production of Kansas is now about 6,000 barrels daily and that of the territories about 43,000 barrels, amply verifying the predictions of The Gazette correspondent who visited the fields last spring. Kansas is now the tail and the territories the dog, though the tail is still trying to wag the animal. As for Texas, its daily production declined to about 80,000 barrels during September, as compared with 100,000 barrels a day during August. This, with the interruption at Baku, has relieved the pressure considerably in other fields.

Some Discrepancies.

While asking votes for the Citizens ticket on the strength of an excellent record made by the county commissioners, the Post persists in a vicious assault on James A. Evans, the Citizens member of the board. As The Gazette pointed out yesterday, seven of the ten items enumerated in the Citizens "platform" claim credit for acts of the county commissioners. City Solicitor William B. Rodgers ascribed that creditable record to Mr. Evans. From this estimate the Post dissents, making a direct issue with the most respectable official connected with the Citizens party.

In conclusion the Post says of Mr. Evans that "finding nothing more in the trough he has returned to his wallow." The Post, however, sees something "in the trough" yet. For the chance to get at what is there for F. X. Barr, the Post opposed Col. J. M. Guffey's demand to have the name of the Democratic candidate for state treasurer placed at the head of the Citizens ticket. It had its way, too, thereby gaining probably 2,000 votes for Barr for clerk of courts and depriving Berry of possibly more than that number.

No one has come forward in "platform" or other document to praise the official record of the aforesaid F. X. Barr, alias J. J. Grady. Of the ten items to which the Citizens point with pride, seven give credit to Evans—or Clark—while the remaining three have scant praise for Barr.

A Malignant Campaign.

The malignancy of the opposition to the re-election of Gov. Herrick is the limit of extreme partisanship. It does not come wholly from the Democratic press and speakers, but radical and unreasoning persons within the Anti-Saloon league and church people who are without the charity and moderation of speech which the gospel they are wont to proclaim teaches. Slander and calumny do not often win. We do not think they will prevail in this instance, especially since the wife of the Republican candidate has become the object of the slurs of radicalism run mad. It is not conceivable that the chivalry of Ohio will stand for such un-American methods.

A revulsion of feeling has begun in Ohio, which shows the ultra Anti-Saloon league has overleaped itself in its campaign of misinformation and misrepresentation. Many Democrats are in revolt. While Gov. Herrick is having an ugly fight, he will be elected. He has made a good executive. He has conducted the office under more difficulty than any of his predecessors, but he has applied business methods which have evoked the admiration of all classes not blinded by prejudice. He ought to win for decency's sake.

Misplaced Consideration.

In their relations one with another, both formal and personal, true men are prone always to avoid drawing harsh and retaliatory conclusions as to the conduct of their fellows. The disposition to be "easy" on an offender against the laws of business or social etiquette is the mark of a gentleman. It is only your bully who ruffles his temper and noisily stands for what he calls his "rights" on every provocation, no matter how slight. But just as the tendency toward excusing and condoning crime is apt to embolden the natural born criminal, so an attempt to exhibit tactful consideration in behalf of the habitual violator of the ethics of business, social or professional life will very frequently be misunderstood and its employment turned against the man of finer grain. Perhaps the painful, if not actually evil, results that sometimes follow a course of "turning the other cheek" grow out of the too common indifference in this age to the more virile standards of manhood and womanhood.

The refinements of our modern society are working out a certain "effeminacy" of thought and ideal. Nor is this term intended in discredit to the feminine sex, but it best expresses a certain over delicacy and disinclination to handle the popular faults and errors of mankind with the corrective vigor that they deserve. In our modern treatment of crime and all offenses against the order and welfare of society we are prone these days to overestimate the place of "moral suasion" as a corrective. Suspicion of the honesty and honor of our fellows has not been abated in any degree, which shows that our mildness is really only a refinement of society and of no special importance as indicating a deeper tenderness of moral nature. Our bitterness and implacability, where we imagine we have cause, are as vituperative as ever, but it is usually reserved for expression behind the back of the victim. In his or her presence, or when called upon to assist in the administration of punitive law we are very apt to be guided by over sentimentality or a mushiness of opinion that will encourage rather than correct evil.

This is nowhere more apparent than in the social and business considerations that are daily extended to men who instead of accepting them as tokens of gentlemanly breeding make them the signs of fear or cowardice and immediately proceed to take advantage of the consideration which they clearly do not deserve. Business and social life is an excellent field in which to study the caliber of the average modern man. The realm of statesmanship furnishes only a narrow field of activity, and the absence of war and pioneer struggles makes it impossible to judge men under the necessities that were wont to develop heroes or poltroons. The business and social worlds today furnish the great arenas for the displays of character. The men who give and take with the courage and manliness of unsuspecting frankness are the men who furnish the true ethics of our modern public life. The fellows who gauge the viciousness and offensiveness of their treatment of a rival or an enemy by the amount of consideration shown them are the camp followers who have no place in the army of true men. It is for this class that consideration and gentleness of treatment is misplaced. Men who either do not know or are entirely ignorant of the ethics of personal, business or social life should be dealt with promptly and open handedly.

A Futile Apology.

In its capacity as apologist for the pledge-breaking Citizens party the Dispatch resorts to the "You're another" style of argument. It admits the Citizens party has broken every pledge it made to the people, but avers the Republicans broke their pledges also and cites the Duquesne way elevated franchise by way of proof—one of the two franchises granted within the history of the Citizens party for which compensation was given, the other being the Baltimore & Ohio depot ordinance.

Unquestionably the freeing of Liberty avenue from the railroad tracks at grade will prove an exceedingly valuable consideration to the city. It is not pertinent in this connection to say it is simply restoring to the city what it once possessed. The original franchise was granted many years ago and had to be treated as a possession of the railroad, right or wrong. In that aspect it was a thing of great value and the city is the gainer by its surrender in exchange for the franchise on Duquesne way. Almost everybody but the purblind Dispatch has been able to recognize this truth. The Gazette favored additional compensation for the Duquesne way franchise, but agreed the city could not afford to lose the inestimable advantage of having Liberty avenue freed in a futile effort to obtain the far less valuable cash prize properly advocated by the Orphans.

When it comes to comparing this grant of the Duquesne way franchise in exchange for Liberty avenue with the acts in general of the Citizens party and leaders, however, The Gazette must protest. There was the grant of the boulevard without any compensation whatever; the shameless hold-up of the Hall syndicate railway franchises until the proffered compensation was eliminated; the similar hold-up of the light franchise for the same purpose. For these things there is absolutely no excuse. There is no possibility of offsetting them by comparison with the Duquesne way matter, however hard the Dispatch may strive to put them on the same plane in the hope of relieving the stress of public condemnation of the Citizens control.

Running on His Own Hook.

The most peculiar feature in the very peculiar politics of New York city is the independent candidacy of District Attorney Jerome. There have been independent candidates before, but they have been indorsed or supported by some sort of party. Jerome is absolutely alone. Tammany, naturally, did not care to nourish the ambitions of a man who has smashed some of its time-honored customs. The fusion interests thought something of him as a candidate for mayor, but the wily district attorney refused to allow his name to be considered. The Republicans when they named a straightout party ticket left Jerome off it. Now the Municipal Ownership league has put a ticket in the field, but they selected a new man for the district attorneyship. This condition of affairs left Jerome no way to turn except to himself, and appealing to his own personality he had himself nominated for re-election "without a dissenting voice."

District Attorney Jerome has done some good work, and some work that was not so good. He has had a remarkable career, which started in such good company as Goff, Moss and others in their various movements against the grafters of Croker's time. While not reformers, they were diligent and consistent prosecutors and investigators. Had Mr. Jerome contented himself to remain in that school he would have succeeded better. Although earnest and capable he has of late become theatric, playing to the galleries outside the court room instead of pleading to the juries inside. These traits, recently accentuated, have alienated many influential friends, and he now goes into the political game holding the hand of a "four flusher." The radical reform microbe has got him, which probably means his signal defeat. Had he been content to listen to good advice occasionally instead of giving it all the time, another story might be told.

Controller Larkin's declaration that the Citizens party cannot regain public confidence "while it has stolen goods in its pockets" has lost none of its force. But as long as the Leader gets a share from the delinquent tax advertising it will defend the thieves.

The lying Leader continues to give credit to the Citizens party for the official acts of James A. Evans, while declaring he has not been a part of that party since he took office.

District Attorney Stewart has prepared 1,000 more cases in a year than any former county attorney. This is a sufficient answer to all his traducers.

Czar Nicholas has invited America to participate in The Hague conference. The invitation was promptly accepted without any manifestation of surprise.

When the Leader is not hurrahing for the escape of Cunliffe it is trying to cover the flight of the other party with "stolen goods in its pockets."

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Are You Sorry Summer Has Gone and Winter Is Here?

By ERASMUS WILSON.

This time o' year the Katy-did
Gets sorry that she did it.
She hides her head and when 'tis hid,
Forgets just where she hid it.

The honey-bee, as one may see,
Is very tired of beeing.
The tree-toad in the appletree
Throws up his job of treeing.

The quail upon the stubble fields
May well begin their quailing.
The cosmos her cosmetics wields
To keep her cheek from paling.

'Tis plain that Madame Summer's out—
But when we've long been knowing
That she's an arrant gad-about—
It seems she's always going!
—Indianapolis News.

Are you sorry that summer has gone, and autumn, first cousin to both summer and winter, is here with the announcement that the icy winds are coming?

The birds are not sorry, nor are the flowers, nor the squirrels, nor anything in nature, save man.

Maybe you only think you are sorry, and maybe no more so than you were when summer came. Man's troubles, you know, are in his mind; at least he gets more worry out of his suspicions and fears than out of the real happenings in life.

You may not agree with this, but think it over and see if you haven't worried more over anticipated trouble than over the real thing. Winter is never as hard to bear as you think it will be and if summer was all you imagine it you would be roasted alive.

* * *

Do we anticipate too much, live too far in advance of present day and date?

There are those who do not live today, having lived a week, or a month, or a year ago. To these the passing days have no special value, possess no present charms, nor bring anticipated pleasures.

And yet the present is all that we can really enjoy, although we find more or less enjoyment in the pursuit of pleasure and profit, and some even take pleasure in things past.

It is the present, however, that we really enjoy; at least those of us who take a philosophic view of life. There is pleasure in toil and labor even though it be onerous and tiresome, for it promises real pleasure some day.

If people lived more in the present they would be happier, wiser, and healthier, for then they would take better care of themselves, study to make each day pleasanter, and strive to surround themselves with real comforts.

The speculative mind rarely takes cognizance of today, but is away off in the future trying to pick winners and to flush birds of fortune. Today has no joys for them, nor is yesterday worth recalling. Tomorrow is all, and yet it is not, so that there is no pleasurable realism for those given over to speculation.

And then speculation is so uncertain, and uncertainty is never restful, and rest is the very thing all are hoping for, the thing most needed. Not idleness, but rest, relaxation from the strains of speculation. Rest is for today and not for tomorrow.

* * *

Living today does not mean living from hand to mouth. That is the way of the sloth, the beggar, the improvident; or in other words, the animal.

What difference, think you, between the man who lives as does the animal, and the animal? Is it not mainly in form and degree of animal intelligence? Does he not live from hand to mouth, and isn't he ever on the watch for opportunities to get something for nothing? And does he hesitate to take that which rightfully belongs to another if he can get it by hook or crook?

The man who doesn't rise above the animal in generosity, in human feelings, in spiritual hope, is he not, to all intents and purposes, an animal?

The man who lives today enjoys the fruits of his labors. This is in accordance with the original plan, which plan was right, and the more nearly we conform to it the more comfort our enjoyment.

* * *

It is the animal in man that causes him to push, and rush, and bully, regardless of the comfort and welfare of his fellows. The weakling in the herd is crowded out, or trampled upon, and robbed of its share of food.

Haven't you known men who have fattened in purse by crowding and bullying neighbors and fellowmen who happened to be weaker in some respects, but in others their equals, or possibly their superiors?

These traits being purely animal are at variance with the traits which characterize the spiritual nature, the man of soul.

Nor do animal men enjoy life as well as do brute animals for the reason that the latter cannot anticipate the future, not even of tomorrow. Could these anticipate the future they would be as miserable as men who cannot see their ways clear to the creature comforts upon which their pleasure in life depend.

* * *

Live today, and for today, and you will find that there is much comfort in living. And with comfort comes pleasure, and with pleasure leisure to enjoy the good things contemplated in the original plan.

To live today, as you should, is to so live that when tomorrow becomes today it will be as full of comfort as was yesterday when it was yet today with you.

There are those who live so entirely in the past that they seem never to be aware of the presence of today, nor of the coming of tomorrow. These find hardly more enjoyment in life than those who live so far in the future that today is as the dead past to them.

It is not unusual for young people to become so wrapped up in their wedding day that it is the only day they look forward to, and the only one they remember distinctly in the past. These marriages are disappointing, and so are homes, family, and all that goes to make up the sum of life.

Every day should be their wedding day, every duty discharged with cheerfulness, and every responsibility accepted with good grace.

To anticipate trouble with fear and dread is to weaken your powers of resistance, which is equivalent to inviting failure.

Live, therefore, for today, but live rationally, and with common sense, which is of the heart as well as of the mind, and the future will have few disappointments in store for you.

Very Neatly Put.

There may be many persons who have heretofore laid claim to being Republicans who will, for misunderstood reasons, bolt the ticket this year. On the other hand, there are many good, honest Democrats who abhor political dirt and blackmail, who will take their places.—Marysville (Ohio) Tribune.

TAMMANY PLAYING AT THE OLD TRICKS

Colonization of Voters Begins Despite Fact That They Are Not Needed.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The ways of Tammany and the reasons therefor are certainly past finding out. Why, any reasonable person may ask, should there be a resort to colonization this year? But there has been, and Superintendent of Elections Morgan has discovered large colonies of floaters in two districts. Certainly Tammany does not need their votes this year, since the opposition is split up among three other tickets, but the old habit is so strong that the colonization goes on just the same. Probably it is done to keep the floaters employed, possibly it is merely to make a good showing when the votes are counted. You can never quite tell what Tammany means by such a move.

"The colonization we discovered is in safely Democratic districts," said Mr. Morgan, "and can in no way effect the general result in the city, so there is really no real reason why it should be done. Nevertheless, we are just as watchful as though a great deal depended upon an honest vote and a fair count."

Superintendent Morgan has tried a new scheme this year, and it works well. It is to send inspectors from one district to another, instead of having them stationed at one place all the time, and they are thus able to run across a few floaters occasionally. The registration is much heavier this year than was expected, and it is evident that a very large vote will be polled. The last registration day comes tomorrow.

Jerome Must Go It Alone.

The past week developed the fact that District Attorney Jerome must go it alone this year, and win or lose on a direct appeal to the people. There was a pretty hard fight in an effort to force him upon the Tammany ticket, but Charles F. Murphy proved that he is still the boss canvasman of that circus and runs it just to suit himself. Ever since Mr. Jerome made his galling remarks about the "bartender boss" there has been no doubt that Murphy would be against Jerome at every turn of the road, and one could hardly expect anything else. Mr. Jerome has not been mincing in his remarks about bosses in general, and the Tammany boss in particular.

Not All Smoke Cigarets.

There seems to be a difference of opinion as to the number of child cigaret smokers in this city. Judge Wyatt, who presides over the children's court, says the estimate of 90 per cent is too high, and does not think that more than 10 per cent of those who come before him are smokers. On the other hand, Mr. Samuel Kahn, examining physician for the board of health, says fully 90 per cent of the boys in school in New York are smokers. He declares that while it is worse on the East Side than elsewhere, no district in the city is exempt, and the sons of the rich are almost as much taken with the habit as the sons of the poor.

Bear Roams Long Island.

There is a big reddish brown bear at large on Long Island in the neighborhood of Babylon, and for the past few days his menu has consisted of bull pups, fox terriers, Angora cats and prize poultry. About a score of dogs and cats have been lost, and their owners insist that every one of them could be counted upon for prizes in a bench show. A posse has been formed to hunt Mr. Bear, but so far has not been successful. Bruin will soon be ready to go into winter quarters and take a nap, and then he will be hard to find. No one seems to know just where he hails from.

Luckily He Is a Philosopher.

"I have had my fling," says Jefferson J. Raplee, once a wealthy New York banker, now an inmate of the city institution for the poor at New Springville, Staten Island. Mr. Raplee lost his fortune and declines to accept the hospitality of friends. However, it was an old friend of his days of prosperity who signed his commitment papers, and gave him a letter to the warden, who has taken a kindly interest in the old man. He has only been an inmate of the poor farm for a few days, but he has made friends with other inmates, and is becoming quite popular because of his cheery manner and the philosophy with which he accepts his fate.

Troubles of the Cabby.

The death of a man who disputed the bill of his "cabby" serves to call attention to the fact that the cabman, despite all that is said about him, is very often ill-used. In this case the cabman struck a man who refused to pay his fare, the man fell, and the doctors say he died of heart failure as a result of the blow and excitement. The "nighthawk" cabman largely has to do with ordinarily sedate citizens "out for a time," and it requires the patience of a Job to listen to their wrangles. Some men become very "nasty" when under the influence of firewater, and the constant annoyance the cabman meets with causes us sometimes to wonder that he doesn't get into more trouble.

SOME RECOLLECTIONS OF HENRY IRVING

By HALL CAINE.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—To hear of a dear friend's death across three thousand miles of ocean, to be powerless for any purpose of help and useless for any offices of affection, is to offer a bereavement that deals a double blow. I had feared it was coming. I had expected it. I had even reckoned with certain contingencies which might arise in connection with it, yet now it has come, as death nearly always does, with a suddenness that is terrible.

The development of Henry Irving's reputation during the years of our friendship constitutes the story of his life as the public knows it. But the development of Henry Irving's personality during the years of our friendship was for me still more interesting. I should say that when I knew him first he was a young man of full average abilities, not certainly of outstanding genius, and not better equipped by reading and teaching than are many of the young actors of the present day. In the years that intervened he became a man of real intellectual attainments and in the best sense of education.

Had Voltairian Humor.

Perhaps his character even more than his mind underwent striking developments during the years of our acquaintance. The buoyancy and bounding spirits of the earlier years gave way for a time to a certain Voltairian humor which was often biting and sometimes amusing. He loved nearly all animals and especially dogs, but he had a sort of bitter affection for monkeys. I was staying with him at Manchester a few years ago when he suggested that we should go together, with Miss Terry, to see a huge monkey that had lately been bought for the public gardens at Belle Vue. The monkey was brought out of the cage by his keeper and put on a table, around which we were all seated. Then Irving made advances toward his new friend and ordered a glass of port for him. The monkey sipped his wine like a man, put down the glass and smacked his lips with pleasure.

Gave the Monkey a Headache Too.

"Drink up, old fellow," said Irving, and he reached out his hand to give the glass to the monkey again. Then the monkey, mistaking his purpose and thinking he meant to take the wine away, snatched at the glass with one hand, clutched at Irving's head with the other and held on to both. I screamed and I think Miss Terry nearly fainted, but Irving remained perfectly self-possessed. As soon as the keeper had liberated him he said:

"Give the monkey another glass of port."

The second glass was brought and the monkey drank it.

"Now, another," said Irving, and the monkey drank the third glass also.

"That's my revenge," said Irving. "The rascal will awake with a headache in the morning."

"World Growing Lonesome."

But better than the Voltairian humor in his character was the tenderness which came uppermost when the troubles of life fell thick upon him, and his friends were falling on every side. I met him at the door of his room in the Lyceum one afternoon when he was returning from the sick bed of an old comrade. His eyes were very red and his voice husky. "The world is growing very lonesome," he said. "Every year of life there seems to be less and less to live for. There'll be nobody left to one by and by."

In common with all manly men, he felt the appeal of women.

The consciousness of having hurt the feelings of a woman, however unwittingly, seemed to be acutely painful to him. I recall the incident of the nomination of a certain physician for a club of which Irving was a prominent member. Remembering that the physician had been the open enemy of one of his friends, who was dead, Irving resisted the nomination, and, as a consequence of his influence, the candidate was blackballed. Some weeks passed, and at a fashionable reception the wife of the physician stepped up to him. She said nothing and only held out her hand, but there was a look of pain in her face that touched Irving deeply. He could not speak, but turning to one of us a moment afterward he said:

"That shows what a poor thing revenge is. We may have a quarrel with a man and think we are fighting fair, but, God help us, we forget that when we are hitting the man we may be hitting a woman as well."

Was Sociable by Nature.

Henry Irving was by nature the most sociable of beings. He was born to be the boon companion of all good fellows. He loved to have his friends about him always, to give them good dinners, and, above all, good suppers; to sit far into the night with them, drinking healths and telling stories, and then to drive home with them through the echoing London streets in the dead, white light of early morning.

If he had any selfishness it was only in the possession of rare and beautiful objects—priceless books, objects of art and relics of great men—and the people who had such things to sell were quick to learn where it was best to sell them. His rooms in Grafton street and at the theater were full of treasures, and even in his most prosperous days, one way or other, his money too often went through his hands like water.

Dark Days of Despair.

Bad times came on rapidly; his treasures had to be disposed of and his rare books had to be sold as part of "the library of a gentleman." At last, with his other possessions, his theater itself passed out of his hands, and then, the head of the profession, the chief of English actors, the one player in England (perhaps in the world) who had become famous outside his own walk of life, and one of the men of the age, broken in health and now old before his time, became a rambler without a home.

Small wonder if his temper sometimes got the better of him, and he said bitter things of the public—especially the playgoing public—who ran after the plays and the puppets he despised and set so little store by the ideals of dramatic art to which he had consecrated his life. But the bitterness soon passed, and his last days were sweetened by the sense of a possession that must have been more precious to him than many fortunes—the possession of the heart of the public.

AUTUMN.

IN BREEZE.

How fast she drops her blazing leaves in mirth!
Hark! how she laughs to see them heap the earth;
To see the happy children gather them,
As though each color were a precious gem.

IN CALM.

Dethroned, she holds her royalty through all,
Reluctant still to let her glories down,
As is a monarch parting with his crown.

ANOTHER WABASH OFFICIAL LEAVES

RETIRING OFFICER'S RECORD

George T. Barnsley, chief engineer of the Wabash railroad lines east of Toledo, has resigned, and this morning his successor, H. T. Douglas, will enter upon the duties of the office. Following the resignation of Col. W. D. Holliday, assistant general freight agent, on Saturday, the announcement that Mr. Barnsley will leave the Wabash does not cause much surprise among those who have been noting the changes which have taken place since the close of the Ramsey regime.

Mr. Barnsley is one of the foremost engineers in Pittsburgh and is prominent among his professional associates throughout the country. In his leaving the Wabash the Goulds lose the man whose efforts directed the building of the monuments of skill and enterprise which long will endure in Pittsburgh to commemorate the memorable contest which was waged so long to secure a new trunk line here. As division engineer of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western he superintended the gigantic work on the Pittsburgh terminal, drilling the Mt. Washington tunnel, constructing the cantilever bridge and the station and the Duquesne way improvements. Last June he succeeded J. W. Patterson as chief engineer of the lines east of Toledo.

George T. Barnsley.

Previous to his coming to the Wabash he had charge of extensive improvements on the Chesapeake & Ohio in the Pocahontas region. Likewise he served a long term with the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Barnsley is a member of the Society of Civil Engineers and of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania. He is a director in the local society and has been mentioned as its next president. He is a native of Montgomery county and was graduated from the engineering department of Swarthmore college. He resides at Oakmont.

Mr. Douglas has been consulting engineer of the Pittsburgh division of the Wabash, and previously served for nearly four years as chief engineer of the West Side Belt. He stated last night that no further changes would be made in his office.

An official announcement of Mr. Barnsley's retirement has not been made. Mr. Douglas confirmed the report, and stated that he would immediately assume the duties of his new position.

FATHER LAMBING'S PASTORATE

Yesterday marked the 20th anniversary of the Rev. Father A. A. Lambing's pastorate at St. James' Roman Catholic church, Wilkinsburg. There were no special services in celebration of the anniversary, but Father Lambing referred briefly to his two decades of work in the parish. When Father Lambing was assigned to the pastorate of St. James' church, Wilkinsburg, October 15, 1885, there were about 165 families in the congregation. The present combination church and school building was dedicated December 24, 1889.

In 1891 a portion of the congregation was taken off the east to help form St. Brendan's congregation, Braddock. Two years later another part was cut off to help form the Holy Rosary congregation, Homewood. Two years ago still more of the membership went to help form St. Ambrose congregation, Swissvale. Yet on account of the constant growth of the parish, it now numbers more than 500 families, or 2,500 souls. The number of Easter communicants this year was more than 1,600.

WALLACE EXPECTS ROBINSON BACK

Police Head Says the Inspector Took Offense Needlessly and Flared Up.

PROPERTY INSTRUCTIONS

"Yes, Inspector Robinson handed in his keys and badge Saturday night, and made the statement he had quit the police force," said Supt. "Buck" Wallace of the Pittsburgh bureau of police, yesterday. Continuing, he said: "Robinson has not, however, sent in a formal resignation, and therefore I do not consider by any means that he has quit. I expect him to report for duty at the usual time tomorrow morning."

Supt. Wallace thus confirmed the fact that Inspector Robinson had thrown up his position in the police bureau. The incident occurred on Saturday night. Robinson usually stays on duty until 11 o'clock at night, but on this occasion, after his verbal bout with Wallace, he bade good night to the sergeant at the Central police station desk at 9 p. m. and went home.

"This is the way it happened," said Wallace. "Last evening I had a talk with the inspector, captain, lieutenants and sergeants, all of them being together. I reminded them of a rule of the bureau which requires that all property taken from prisoners who are held for court—papers, knives, pistols and anything that may be needed for use in the cases against prisoners, in fact, anything that belongs to them when arrested, must be turned over to the property clerk. He inventories it, marks the package for future identification and keeps a list of all the property in his possession. Then, when it is needed in court, or turned over to the prisoner, the clerk has ready access to it. I told the officers that this rule must be obeyed.

"They all took it in good part, seeming to realize that no reflection upon their integrity or their sense of duty was meant. I left them and was sitting in detective headquarters when Robinson came in. He placed some packages on the table and said that was all the property he had in his possession. I saw that he was angry, and so I gathered up the parcels and walked with the inspector to my own office. I asked him what was the matter, and he told me he did not like what I had said about the property and that he would then and there quit. Then he handed me his keys, took off his badge and gave it to me and went away.

"The inspector is quite sensitive and flares up easily, so, therefore, I have no doubt that he will report for duty tomorrow and go back to work. He does not have to be here on Sunday, although he generally comes around on Sunday afternoon or evening.

"No doubt the property the inspector was holding belonged to cases which he has in court and he believed that they ought to be in his custody, he being responsible for the cases. He may be following a custom, but it is a custom which should not exist. Suppose that something should happen to an officer of the bureau having such property in his possession; suppose he is killed, or disabled, then where are we, depending upon him for information as to whom the property belongs or the point it may be used to prove in court. It would be bad to be crippled thus just when, perhaps, a court case is coming on; or if a man should come in after his possessions and was delayed in getting them. Robinson had no reason to be offended with me, for I meant to reflect on nobody."

MANY CANADIANS ARE COMING HERE

COMMITTEE MAKES PROGRAM

A party of 500 Canadians, 400 of whom will be school teachers from the Dominion and the other 100 invited guests from the city of Toronto, will spend three days in Pittsburgh next week. They will be the guests of the Pittsburgh schools and will be entertained at the new Fort Pitt hotel in Penn avenue, which will be opened the day before the arrival of the party from Canada.

The committee on entertainment is composed of principals and teachers, the chairman being Principal W. H. Fisher, who was at the Schenley park conservatories yesterday arranging with Supt. Burke for a visit to the "mum" show. The committee held a meeting on Saturday at the Fort Pitt hotel and made the program for the three-days' stay of the Canadians who are scheduled to arrive in Pittsburgh on Thursday evening, October 26, at 5 p. m.

That night they will be taken to the heights of Mt. Washington to see the city under the glamour of electric lights. The following day, Friday, the visitors will be divided into 20 groups of 20 each and will inspect the schools, guided by members of the local committee. Luncheon will be served in the various schools. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the party will assemble at the Carnegie library, look at the institute and "tech" buildings, and after viewing the floral display in the Phipps conservatories, will make a trip to the Friendship and Margaretta schools, afterwards to Highland park.

In the evening the local teachers will tender the visitors a reception at the Fort Pitt hotel, which will conclude with a concert and dance. On Saturday morning the entire delegation will board a Pennsylvania special train and will make a tour of the Westinghouse plant at East Pittsburgh, the Homestead steel works and some glass plant on the South Side. Saturday afternoon a trip will be made on street cars through the residence districts of the city, for which the Pittsburgh Railways Company has donated 4,000 tickets. The party from Canada will return home Sunday morning.

RAFFLE MURDERER'S GUN.

Proceeds Are to Be Given to Aged Mother of Convict Waite, Who Has Become Public Charge.

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Raffle tickets are being sold for the revolver with which Rosewell Waite murdered Policeman Frank Skidmore and terribly wounded John Atkinson here in August, 1904. Waite is serving a 15-year sentence in the Allegheny penitentiary. Waite was the only support of his aged mother, who has since become a charge on the city. The proceeds of the raffle will be given to her.

CHRYSANTHEMUN SHOW OPENS N XT SUNDAY

Supt. Burke Promises Rare Specimens—Two Lions Are Born at the Highland Zoo.

The chrysanthemum show opens at the Phipps conservatory in Schenley park next Sunday with 5,000 choice specimens on exhibition the first day, the stock to be increased and renewed daily. Supt. Burke said yesterday the "mum" show would continue for three weeks and probably four weeks if the conditions of the flowers warrant. The "mums" will be in their finest bloom during the second week. Supt. Burke says the display will be better this year than ever before, that some rare specimens have been grown by the blending of colors into deeper shades.

Two lions were born at the Highland zoo on Saturday, a male and a female, but the female cub died soon after its birth. The surviving male has been named Pascha. The father is Sultan, who has been at the zoo for seven years, and the mother is Sayda, who has given birth to 27 cubs, four at one time. There are now eight lions at the zoo. Eight were sold last spring and others will be sold early next year.

An alligator has been donated to the zoo by A. T. Yoder of Murray Hill avenue, a groundhog by Miss Abel of Forbes street, and a horned owl was received by express but the donor is unknown.

SEEK AN INTERPRETATION OF FISHERIES TREATY

Secretary Root Will Be Asked to Define Rights of Americans on the Coast of Newfoundland.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

GLOUCESTER, MASS., Oct. 15.—As a result of the policy recently adopted by the Newfoundland government to restrict American fishing rights on the coast of Newfoundland, Congressman Augustus P. Gardner and Benjamin A. Smith, one of the largest vessel owners of this city, left tonight for Washington to discuss the situation with Secretary of State Elihu Root.

The object of the trip to Washington is to obtain from the head of the state department an interpretation of the treaty of 1818, by which American fishermen were guaranteed certain fishing rights on the Newfoundland coast. A similar trip to Washington was made last spring, but thus far no interpretation of the treaty has been made by the department of state.

The vessel owners of this port say they are prepared to make a test case of the matter, if any Gloucester vessels are interfered with by the cruiser Fiona. The Newfoundland government claims Newfoundland fishermen are shipped at Gloucester, and in order that this cause of complaint may be eliminated, the schooner Dauntless, Capt. Charles T. Young, will sail from this port tomorrow with a crew of 24 men, all of whom were shipped here, and none of whom belong to Newfoundland.

PUPILS DEBATE SPORTS AT TECH

Athletics Will Not Have a Conspicuous Place at Carnegie's School.

STUDIES TO BEGIN TODAY

The Carnegie Technical schools will be opened this morning with a corps of patriotic students. The anxiety of the young men to get to work in the classrooms and the shops of the new institution in Schenley park was shown by the number of prospective pupils that took their friends to inspect the buildings yesterday afternoon. Admission was denied and many left without trying to conceal their disappointment.

Others sought comfortable seats on the grass in the park near the school and talked over their plans for recreation. The slopes of Flagstaff Hill will make an ideal campus. Northeast of the Bigelow monument is 15 acres of fine turf which the students will gladly appropriate for a playground during their leisure moments. The status of this piece of ground, however, has not fully been determined. A portion of it is included in the bailiwick of Sergt. Adolph Stoerkel of the park police, who has a man to strenuously enforce the "keep off the grass" rule.

"A peach of a place for football practice," remarked one youth as he glanced over the ground.

"I'm going to cut out sports," replied his companion.

"Is it true that the school authorities are going to object to athletics?"

"It looks that way. They're not much for that sort of thing and will not lend the school's aid. Fellows won't be asked to come here simply because they are pitchers or outfielders or are smooth at the tackle or can buck the tar out of center. Athletics and windjamming are to be given the cold, icy stare. I think it's better, too. I'd rather know how to navigate a ship or build a house or set a trolley car in motion than be able to deliver a dozen orations in Latin. Of course the fellows will be allowed to play anything they wish, but I don't look for the Tech to bother much with boat crews, cricket teams or golf experts."

Some of the boys who will begin their course at the Tech schools today have had little time for recreation, and they are not giving much thought to the opportunities for sports. While the students probably are not aware of the fact, nevertheless there were two or three simple little questions in the examination papers last week which had much to do in deciding their fate in passing the final test. One of these questions in particular was calculated to be instrumental in weeding out those who were not in earnest in their work and the answers to it caused many applicants to fail.

The Death Roll

Mrs. Jane Crawford Diehl.

Mrs. Jane Crawford Diehl, widow of William E. Diehl, and mother of W. J. Diehl, ex-mayor of Pittsburgh, died yesterday morning at 11:20 o'clock at her residence, 5418 Stanton avenue. Mrs. Diehl had been in ill health for about a year, but had only been seriously ill since May, and did not take to her bed until about four weeks ago. She was born in Philadelphia, March 19, 1821, which is also the date of the birth of her husband, who was born in Pittsburgh, and who died in 1876. Her maiden name was Jane Crawford Elliott, her parents being Thomas and Jane Elliott, who came from Ireland to this country, settling in Philadelphia, and who came to Pittsburgh when Mrs. Diehl was quite young. Mrs. Diehl was the last of five children, her only sister, Mrs. Anna E. Cluley, having died September 12 of this year. She was a sister of the late Robert Elliott, director of the department of charities of Pittsburgh. She was the mother of 11 children, seven of whom died in their infancy. Those surviving her are: W. J. Diehl of this city, Mrs. John B. Lober of Brynmawr, and the Misses Annie E. and Jenny E. Diehl at home. Funeral services will be held from the family residence tomorrow at 2 p. m., and will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church. The interment will be in the family lot in Allegheny cemetery.

Samuel A. Jordan, aged 80, died yesterday at the home of his brother-in-law, George Boulton, 326 Maple avenue, Edgewood park. Mr. Jordan was born in Pittsburgh. At the age of 19 he ran away from home and enlisted in a Memphis (Tenn.) regiment for service in the Mexican war. At the close of the war he went to Kittanning where he lived until the civil war broke out, when he again enlisted, going to the front with a cavalry regiment commanded by Col. Serwell of Kittanning. After the war he returned to Kittanning and engaged in business. Fifteen years ago he was stricken with apoplexy and since that time had lived with a daughter in Edgewood. He was a member of the Baptist church and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George Boulton of Edgewood, and Mrs. J. W. Moreland of Pittsburgh. He also leaves three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Charles Schroth.

Charles Schroth, aged 41, a well known resident of Pleasant Valley, O'Hara township, died yesterday morning of heart disease after a brief illness. Mr. Schroth was born in Sharpsburg and spent all his life in the vicinity, being engaged in the saloon business for many years. In 1885 he married Miss Emma Davis of Sharpsburg, who survives him with the following children, Laura, Mabel, Charles, George and Ethel Schroth, all living at home. Two brothers and five sisters also survive.

Mrs. Catherine Virginia Fenlon.

While nursing her daughter, Mrs. George L. Bearer, who had been ill for several weeks, Mrs. Catherine Virginia Fenlon, widow of the Hon. John Fenlon, nestor of the Cambria county bar, contracted an illness which resulted in her death on Saturday last at her home in Ebensburg, Pa. Over a month ago Mrs. Bearer was taken ill and her mother was sent for, arriving about two weeks ago. Mrs. Fenlon was 76 years old, and the strain and her anxiety over her daughter's condition overtaxed her strength and she was taken ill and at her request was taken home to Ebensburg on last Monday. Mrs. Fenlon was born in this city in a house which stood on what is now the site of Horne's store, and was the daughter of John V. and Maria Myers. She was married in this city, but moved to Ebensburg immediately afterward, as her husband was an attorney at the Cambria county bar. Seven children survive her. They are: Paul of Philadelphia; Philip of Donora; Henry of Bellefonte; John of New Orleans; Mrs. Bearer of this city, and Mrs. Catherine Blair and Miss Grace Fenlon of Ebensburg. She is also survived by three sisters, Sister Gonzaga of the Mercy convent, Webster avenue; Mrs. Harry Shumaker and Miss Margaret Myer of Ebensburg. John Bearer of Hastings, Pa., father-in-law of Mrs. Bearer, is lying at the point of death at his home in that place, and Mrs. Bearer is still in ill health. Funeral arrangements will be announced upon the arrival of her son, John, of New Orleans, who is on his way to Ebensburg.

Mrs. Caroline Wilbert.

Mrs. Caroline Wilbert, aged 77, widow of Peter Wilbert, who died 18 years ago, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Catherine Johnston, wife of Capt. George Johnston of No. 5 engine company. Mrs. Wilbert was one of the old residents of Mt. Washington, and came to this city from Germany with her parents when quite young. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Johnston, and Mrs. Caroline Killmer of this city. Funeral services will be held from her daughter's residence tomorrow afternoon, and will be in charge of the Rev. C. Baumann.

Mrs. Isabella Bailey.

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Mrs. Isabella Bailey, widow of the Rev. Dr. John A. Bailey of Mount Jackson, died suddenly yesterday. Her husband's death two months ago was a shock to the wife, who at once began to decline. She was about 62 years old and was born in Mercer county.

Going to Bed Hungry.

It Is All Wrong and Man Is the Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring adds much more tissue than is destroyed, and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man eat before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stevenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin. They cure Dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. They are in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences and bismuth scientifically compounded. Your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.

YOU NEED AN ENCYCLOPAEDIA

Get the best work you can—that's your duty. To determine which is the best you need, but consult any of the herewith prominent Pittsburghers who, with thousands of others, have already purchased the

NEW INTERNATIONAL ENCYCLOPAEDIA

Each and every one of these purchasers, knowing the merits of the work, are now its most sanguine indorsers. Why? Because the New International Encyclopaedia is the only first-class, strictly modern and up-to-date work of today. It is indorsed everywhere. At home and abroad wherever introduced its merits have won universal admiration. When men of brains, students of science, professional as well as laymen, must have the New International Encyclopaedia, is it not conclusive proof that it is an indispensable work? Confer with or write to any of the parties which form the circumference of this announcement, and get a free, impartial and unstinted view of the merits of the New International Encyclopaedia. Inquire, investigate, examine and subject it to the most severe test and you will know that it is much superior to all other publications.

Encyclopaedias Should Give Facts—Not Opinions

All of the New International's articles were obtained from authorities, but each article was submitted in turn to other authorities in the same field and then carefully edited and given the proportion of length to which its importance entitled it, so that every article presents fact—not opinion.

Hundreds of authorities in every field of knowledge contributed material to the New International out of skilled minds and years of patient investigation. The result is truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

"New" and "International."

The New International is the most recent reference work in existence. It incorporates knowledge of all the late developments of Science, Art, History, Biography, Law, Medicine, Music, Drama, Literature and Business, from 5000 B. C. down to the present day.

It reflects a knowledge of all the world that is worth knowing of every age and nation. All of the nations of the world are described, their states, leading cities, famous men, battles, ports, harbors, climates, resources, art, commerce—and in short all you will want to know about them.

What An Examination Will Prove

Perhaps you have in your home an encyclopaedia which tells of the world as it was 40 or 50 years ago. (Examine your encyclopaedia carefully.) There are such works on the market. They contain the same old descriptions that were first made for the times of your fathers or grandfathers. They have been "revised" only as regards census and dates. They are in many cases composed of treatises of ponderous length, signed by men who were noted once, but whose ideas have long since lost their freshness and power.

The New International is not a one-man work of "signed articles," because the signed article written by one man—however great—must be more or less marred by prejudice and biased opinion. Such articles have their place in separate books, in the Sunday paper or magazine, but not in Encyclopaedias.

No "Dry-as-an-Encyclopaedia" Articles in The New International.

The New International's language is terse, graphic and powerful, literature in itself that may be read for the pure pleasure of reading, as well as studied for profit. Its technical and scientific descriptions are so simple in language that a child can understand them.

We offer a beautiful bound volume of "Courses of Reading and Study" in the New International FREE ON ORDERS FROM THIS ADVERTISEMENT RECEIVED WITHIN 30 DAYS FROM DATE OF ISSUE, and this is done simply to encourage quick action and get the full benefit of our advertising.

If you will take the trouble to visit personally our Encyclopaedia Department, 517 Ferguson Building, we will give you unprejudiced advice and opportunity to personally examine not only the New International, but any other encyclopaedia in which you may be interested.

More Articles, More Illustrations, More Information Than Any Others.

The New International's 67,097 articles, embracing 100,000 related subjects in 100 different departments of knowledge, positively cover more information than is found in any other encyclopaedia.

Every subject has its own name as a heading, is arranged alphabetically like a City Directory, and there are no indexes to confuse and hinder reference. You find what you want by simply turning to it. It is always there under its own name.

Its photogravures of famous persons, landscapes, paintings and statues, its duotints, maps, charts, cuts and diagrams are so profuse that, bound separately, they would require a volume larger than Webster's International Unabridged Dictionary. And every illustration illustrates, illuminating and explaining the text on a scale never before attempted.

The W. U. P. squad will be hard worked this week getting ready for the game with Cornell on Saturday at Ithaca. There was a vast improvement over previous games. The line moved together like a machine and the back field men handled the ball as though they were in love with it, there being but one fumble, and it was regained.

The return of Edgar to guard and Marshall at tackle was very noticeable. Edgar tore up the California line as though it was paper and Marshall got down on kicks as fast as the ends. Marshall frequently got in the interference in fine shape. There promises to be a lively battle for the quarterback position. Ritchey and Bousseau are the leading contestants. Ritchey ran off the plays Saturday in a manner that pleased Capt. Thompson. Besides this, Ritchey was sure on catching punts and was hard to stop when running through the broken field. Walter East showed his old-time form at end, and he is a fixture at the right side of the line. Q. Banbury played a very creditable game at left end in the first half, but in the second period he was relieved by Perry, when other substitutes were being made. Perry was fast and put up an aggressive game. He was lucky, however, to stay in the game, as Dr. Farrer, the umpire, was once on the point of sending him to the side lines for foul play.

Kiski played good football against the Washington High school. The High school team had hard work breaking the Kiski interference. Three and four men would be in front of the runner, who "hung on" well. McCreight and McGregor, the halfbacks, are both heavy, and they were hard to stop.

Shadyside was surprised at the strength of the Johnstown High school. The Shadyside coaches tried out a few new players against the Flood City team. The coaches are getting the team in shape for the championship games with Kiski.

McCullum, the California center, was badly hurt in the first half Saturday. He was carried off the field in a lifeless condition. The band hired by the W. U. P. students began playing a funeral march. Spectators in the right wing of the grand stand took exception to the music, and a wordy clash between them and the students ensued.

A "kid" brother of Sam Carothers, the Princeton center, is playing right half on the Shadyside academy second team.

A very sensational play came at the last few minutes of the last half at Princeton. McCormick had just kicked off, and the ball was returned to the 25-yard line, where the two teams lined up for scrimmage. Some one fumbled the ball in passing just where Brasher had taken his place a little back of the line. Quick as a flash the ready guard caught the leather, and before the astonished Bucknell team knew what was happening he had torn around the end of their line and went over for a touchdown hardly more than a half minute after the teams had lined up.

After Abernethy of North Carolina had dashed around Penn's left end for 18 yards, being tackled by Stevenson, the whistle blew, ending the first half. Score 5 to 0. This tackle by Stevenson was the black eye of the game. He made no deliberate attempt to tackle the runner, but instead hit him with either his arm or fist in the most bare-faced manner possible. It was an open case of slugging and a piece of "dirty work" that should not be countenanced. It is just such work as that that President Roosevelt is opposed to and is of the kind for which Secretary Taft says a cadet at West Point will not only be removed from the game, but also from West Point. Pennsylvania should not stand for those kinds of tactics either.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Shuster, the Lafayette quarterback, was in splendid form Saturday, drop kicking three goals from the field, one of these from the 40-yard line and another was an angular one from the 25-yard line, while the third was made in the second half from the 25-yard mark.

At Georgetown Saturday a fumble by Abbatichio of a high punt early in the first half within five yards of Georgetown's goal gave Villa Nova a chance to score, and in two rushes outside of the Blue and Gray tackles the ball was carried across, Thorpe going over the line and McAter kicking an easy goal. These were the only points of the game.

At Yale in the second half it was the usual story of "very much Jones." He made many quarter back runs, one for 65 yards.

Harvard was lucky in not being scored against. Along in the middle of the first half two Springfield men broke through and blocked Frill's punt from the 50-yard line. Kern, a tall youth on the visitor line, scampered after the ball, which was rolling toward Harvard's goal line. Another Springfield player ranged alongside of him, and, without a Crimson player near enough to bother him, Kern dropped on the ball on Harvard's 20-yard line, instead of attempting to pick it up or kick it over. On the next play Springfield fumbled, and Harvard got the ball on their own 12-yard line.

Hill school defeated Haverford at Haverford 5 to 0. In the first half Hill outplayed their opponents and scored one touchdown, but in the second half Haverford braced considerably and put up the better game of the two. Haverford did not succeed in scoring, however. Hill held their opponents for downs on the former's 6-yard line and punted the ball out of danger. The teams were equally heavy, Hill's team being lighter than in recent years.

Phillips Andover won a hard fought game from the Yale freshmen, 17 to 5, the Yale youngsters being the first to cross Andover's goal line this season. In the first half Andover forced Yale back for a safety and later Daly kicked a goal from the 15-yard line, the locals' other scores being made on touchdowns by McKay and Daly. The freshmen forced their touchdown on a poor punt by Andover under her own goal posts, a Yale man falling on the ball.

Fast work early in the game and a good defense later enabled Phillips Exeter to defeat the Harvard freshmen, 20 to 6. There were a number of brilliant runs during the game, Dorgin, Exeter, making one of 70 yards, and Wentzel of the same team, another of 50 yards.

SHERIDAN BEATS RECORD.

Creates New World's Discus Mark. Morton Is Beaten.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Martin J. Sheridan of the Irish-American Athletic club, all-round champion of America, beat all records at throwing the discus today, establishing a new world's record of 138 feet 3 inches. This throw was made at the games of the Irish-American Athletic club at Celtic park, Long Island City. Sheridan beat his best previous record of 133 feet 11½ inches twice, his first throw being 135 feet 1 inch, and on his third attempt he made the longer distance.

One of the features of the games was the appearance of J. W. Morton of the South London harriers, England's champion sprinter. He failed to qualify in the 100-yard handicap from scratch, as he finished third in this trial, and winners only qualified.

Walter Adams, the Pittsburgh boy playing full back on the Mercersburg academy team, did very well Saturday against the Lafayette scrubs. Mercersburg won 17 to 0. Adams had a touchdown.

LYCEUM DEFEATED AT TOLEDO, 24 TO 0

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—In a somewhat one-sided game the Pittsburgh Lyceum lost today to the Toledo Athletics by the score of 24 to 0. At no time was Toledo's goal in any danger, and had it not been for the heat the score would have been larger. Gillespie, the left end, was put out toward the close of the game and Riley substituted. The line-up:

Toledo—24.		Pittsburgh—0.
Hadding	L. E.	Gillespie (Riley)
Shepler	L. T.	Edwards
Seuk	L. G.	Dillon
Jankowski	C.	Rogers (Atkins)

Red Mason Is Home.

Larry Temple and his manager, Jimmy Mason, returned yesterday from Boston, where Temple beat Jack Blackburn Friday night. The battle was one of the best that has taken place in New England in years. While in the east Mason tried to get a man to meet Jimmy Dunn and he has the promise of a match with the winner of the McGovern-Murphy fight that is to take place there Wednesday night. In the meantime Dunn has been matched to meet Tommy Love at the New club at Youngstown on October 20. Dunn will come up here to train at the Business Men's club of this city.

Reid Wants Ball Held.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Bill Reid, coach of the Harvard varsity eleven, intends making a big hunt this week for some sticky substance to put on the hands and arms of his half backs to enable them to hold the ball when shot back by the quarters for plunges through the line. Yesterday in the game with Springfield Training school the fumbling was awful, in fact, the worst seen on the field this season and Reid is very grateful to dame fortune for rescuing the Crimson from defeat.

Secret Practice for Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Yale's football candidates will be sent behind closed gates late this week for secret practice. This will be done somewhat earlier than usual, but with West Point, Columbia and Brown following in succession after next Saturday the team needs to have a repertoire of plays well in hand. Tripps' injury of yesterday has proved serious. An old ankle trouble reasserted itself. The big guard will probably be out of the game for at least a week.

The Mifflin A. C. challenges all 85-pound teams. Address E. W. Dullard, 3840 Liberty avenue, city.

LOCAL BOWLING SEASON WILL OPEN TONIGHT

The local bowling season will open this evening, when teams of the three sections of the Allegheny County league will meet in championship battles. The schedule will begin today and wind up on March 9. Then the winners in the different sections will meet in a series for the trophy. The matches scheduled for tonight are Crescent vs. Federal on the Federal alleys; Great Eastern vs. Bloomfield on the Friendship alleys, and Braddock vs. North Braddock on Seng's Braddock alleys. In Braddock the opening will be especially noteworthy, as the whole town is worked up over the sport and the burgess will roll the first ball. On the Federal and Bloomfield alleys meetings of the Allegheny and Pittsburgh sections will be held to boost the game from the start. The Federal bowling team will meet tonight.

Tomorrow night on the club alleys there will be a game of great interest to the Bloomfield bowling fraternity. The contesting teams will be the Kellerman and Meyer, who finished a tie in the two-man league on the Friendship alleys. The players are Epping and Gouse of the Meyers', and Hergenroeder and Hungerman of the Kellerman teams.

W. & J. LIGHTER THAN W. U. P.

HE IS NOT DISCOURAGED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 15.—Coach Frank A. Piekarski of W. and J. watched W. U. P. play the California Y. M. C. A. at Exposition park, Pittsburgh, Saturday. "A good team and pretty well balanced," is the way the local coach described W. U. P. today. Piekarski carefully noted W. U. P.'s style of defense and attack.

"It was a most unsatisfactory game from which to get pointers," said Piekarski today, "inasmuch as the California team had absolutely no defense at all and did not get the ball often enough to show what they could do on the offense. If they had had one man who could tackle at all the score would not have been half so large. California was so tremendously weak that the game was nothing more than signal practice for W. U. P.

"The W. U. P. team, I noticed, was much heavier than W. and J.—I should say about 20 pounds to the man, and coupled with this weight they have lots of speed and seem to be balanced all the way round." When asked if he thought the great weight of W. U. P. would cut a great figure in the contest with W. and J., Piekarski said: "You know that I am not afraid of weight in a football team. I have seen too many heavy teams and played against too many beefy men to be afraid of this avoirdupois unless it is backed by at least ordinary skill."

The local coach refused to discuss W. and J.'s chances against the Pittsburgh eleven in the game next month. He did not seem to be at all discouraged, however, while talking.

Acting Coach "Biddy" Aiken, who had charge of the Washington and Jefferson squad yesterday during the absence of Coach Piekarski, was not satisfied with the work of the eleven in the second half of the game. While playing fairly good ball in the first half the Red and Black team seemed to lose interest somewhat in the second half, and their playing lacked unity and team work. Hard work will be resumed tomorrow evening.

In spite of the ferocity with which men were tackled in the battle yesterday, not a W. and J. man was hurt at all, and not a cripple is on the list at present. Specht, who had a ligament torn loose a week ago, is rapidly rounding into shape, and will in all probability be able to get into the game next Saturday with Allegheny college at Meadville. W. and J. does not expect a hard contest, but will take a large squad along and probably play numerous substitutes.

YALE FRESHMEN DO SOME CREDITABLE WORK

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Yale's annual fall track athletic games, which were held yesterday on Yale field, discovered two promising candidates, both freshmen, in G. M. Butler, who ran the 100-yard dash in 10 2-5 seconds, beating L. K. Robinson by two feet, and D. H. Thomson, who won the 600-yard run in 1 minute 21 2-5 seconds. The other events were less sensational. The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by G. M. Butler; L. K. Robinson, second; F. Altschul, third. Time, 10 2-5s.

100-yard dash—Won by J. T. Pigott; R. H. McClintock, second; A. L. Kelsey, third. Time, 22 4-5s.

120-yard hurdle—Won by R. Hull; C. M. Dupuy, second; L. K. Howe, third. Time, 14s.

Three-quarter-mile run—Won by J. C. Scudder; Don Porter, second; W. C. Gibson, third. Time, 3m. 3s.

600-yard dash—Won by D. H. Thomas; C. A. Shirk, second; H. F. Hillman, third. Time, 1m. 21 2-5s.

350-yard dash—Won by W. B. Stevens; J. H. Browning, second; M. B. Vilas, third. Time, 40 1-3s.

ZANESVILLE WINS THE GAME

ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—In the ninth inning, with the bases crowded, Wagner hit a long fly to left field, which Kustus nailed, ending the game and giving the locals the victory over the Pirates, 6 to 4. This catch was the feature of the game. Lucas outpitched Flaherty and the locals outhit the Pittsburghers. Sharp fielding at critical times helped to keep down the visitors' score. The score:

NEW SYSTEM FOR VITAL STATISTICS

Health Department Devises It and Will Soon Have It in Operation.

IS A WORK OF MAGNITUDE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 15.

The most complete system ever devised for the collection and preservation of vital and mortuary statistics is about to be put into effect in Pennsylvania. The magnitude of this work may be realized when it is known the deaths in this state number approximately 125,000 annually and the births 140,000.

Pennsylvania has never been included as a state in the census reports on vital statistics, because of its lack of system in collecting births and deaths and the causes of deaths. Such statistics as have appeared in these reports were from the larger cities and boroughs where the United States authorities obtained the data from the mortuary records.

The new system for gathering these statistics in Pennsylvania was devised by Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, state commissioner of health, and Dr. Wilmer R. Batt, registrar of vital statistics. Dr. Batt's bureau is a part of the department of health and was created by a law passed by the last legislature. The record of every birth and death which hereafter occurs in Pennsylvania will be reported to the bureau, together with a record of every case of infectious and contagious disease, and much other valuable information which has heretofore been neglected.

Chief King of the division of vital statistics in the United States census bureau, who has taken an active interest in the operations of the health department in this state ever since its creation by the last legislature, says a close watch will be kept by the federal authorities on the operation of this new system because Pennsylvania contains one-twelfth of the entire population of the United States, represents the varying degrees of population from the third largest city in the union down to the sparsely settled districts, and presents the greatest diversity of occupations.

These statistics will be gathered by about 950 local registrars, who will be appointed by Dr. Dixon soon, and who will receive a fee of 25 cents for every birth and death returned by them. Secretaries and other officers of local boards of health will be given preference over other applicants in the distribution of these appointments.

In Philadelphia and other cities where accurate statistics are now being collected, the present officials will be continued and will make the necessary returns to the state bureau.

The department is making a complete record of every physician, undertaker, midwife and sexton in the state. A manual has been prepared for the instruction of the local registrars and another containing rules and regulations to be observed by undertakers, sextons and all other persons in charge of the preparation, interment, disinterment and other disposition of dead bodies, is about to be issued.

Four different forms of certificates have been prepared by the department for use in the shipment of dead bodies by common carriers. A certificate must be attached to the outside of every shipping case and accompany to its destination the body of every person dying in this state. These forms are intended to take the place of the present form of transit permit and make more difficult the spread of contagious and infectious diseases.

LAST WEEK OF THE EXPO.

Sousa Returns to Bring to a Close 17th Season of Big Point Show.

Today marks the beginning of the end of the 17th season of the Pittsburgh exposition. Sousa begins his return engagement and will give a series of 12 concerts during the week, closing the Point show next Saturday night. Sousa was here the week of September 11 and since that time has given a series of concerts in New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri, and according to all reports there was not one city or town that did not give him a rousing welcome.

Each day this week will be devoted to a special set of composers. Today and tonight will be concert programs of the immortal sextet of operatic composers, Rossini, Meyerbeer, Donizetti, Verdi, Wagner and Gounod.

Miss Jessie Straus, the violinist who was heard here during Sousa's previous engagement, is still with the band, while Miss Ada Chambers, the soprano, has been replaced by Miss Elizabeth Schiller, a young woman of exceptional musical attainments. Her voice is said to be of rare beauty.

Another valuable gold watch was given away at the exposition Saturday night, Mrs. Shane of Sheraden being the winner. Next Saturday night closes the exposition, and another gold watch will be given away.

FINDS UNKNOWN'S BODY.

The coroner was notified yesterday of the death of an unknown man, whose body was found in an outbuilding in the rear of the residence of E. T. Adams of Edgewood. He was known about the Adams residence as "George." Three months ago he stopped at the house and asked for something to eat. He was given food and shelter and since that time had been working about the place. He would remain at the house for a time and then go away. About a week ago he left the house, returning Saturday night. He went to sleep in the outbuilding and yesterday was found dead. The coroner's physician said he died from exposure.

A man supposed to be Joseph Corbett, aged 35, was killed by a locomotive in the yards of the Carrie furnace at Rankin early yesterday morning. He lived at Washington, Pa.

Charles McCollough, aged 14, of Pitcairn, died at the West Penn hospital yesterday morning from injuries received on October 3 at Pitcairn, by having his foot crushed by a train. He was a messenger employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

GEN. GOMEZ IS OUT.

Provincial Council Accepts His Resignation as Governor of Santa Clara, Cuba.

HAVANA, Oct. 15.—The provincial council of Santa Clara today accepted the resignations of the governor, Gen. Gomez, who recently abandoned his candidacy for the presidency on the Liberal ticket, and M. Alverdi, the lieutenant governor, who has been acting governor during the absence in the United States of Gen. Gomez. The council then took up the question of the election of their successors.

The city council of Santa Clara, the members of which have heretofore been adherents of the Liberal party, today declared their adhesion to the Moderate, or government party.

Bill Is Strenuously Settled.

In making the weekly settlements in Mrs. Mary Carter's colored boarding house in Fourth street, Rankin, yesterday morning, Charles Lee and Ernest Day, two boarders, had a serious quarrel in which the landlady participated. Lee and Mrs. Carter suffered severe cuts and bruises. Day is in the Braddock lockup on the charge of felonious assault.

COON HUNT TO BE HELD IN WILDS OF ROCKY RIDGE

Well-Known Pittsburghers Accept the Invitation of "Uncle Joe" Phillips to Spend a Night With the Hounds.

The woods out at Rocky Ridge are alive with nice fat raccoons. "Uncle Joe" Phillips brought in the glad tidings from Library on Saturday and now a big coon hunt is being planned. If it's a coon "Uncle Joe" knows it, and his word is gospel to every nimrod who feels the thrill of inspiration for a night excursion after the frisky game.

"Uncle Joe" dropped in on Warden Lewis and whispered the good news. The warden acts as a sort of local information bureau and passed the tip down along the line. Dan Beech was given a hint as to the number of dogs that would be necessary and the other details will be looked after by the farmers out in Bethel township. None of the old-time traditions of the sport will be lacking. The hunters will assemble at "Bill" Hammel's country residence in Library and will start for the ridge at sundown. The date has not been fixed. This matter will depend on the weather. Two or three more heavy frosts are needed to make the conditions most favorable.

All coons don't look alike to "Uncle Joe." He hunted in those same woods away back in the days when poor old Capt. Tom Espy drilled the militia at White Hall tavern—away back in the days when Finleyville was called "Rogue Alley." The village of Library was then conspicuous upon Pennsylvania's educational map because it had a big circulating bookcase and the people were all dead bent on becoming scholars. But there were some who occasionally durned the corners of their Miltons or their Shakespeares for a night or two and slaughtered the coons at Rocky Ridge. "Uncle Joe" Phillips always led the party.

The veteran hunter chanced to meet Mr. Hammel. This dialogue occurred:

"Last winter you got a wild boar which was shot by the kaiser and you suspended it above the door of your restaurant in Diamond street?"

"I did. The boar was shot by the kaiser."

"Now wouldn't you rather have a dozen sleek coons caught by Ed Lewis, Doc Barchfeld, Dan Beech and yourself?"

"I'm on," replied the robust restaurant man, and immediately the hunt was arranged.

GREAT SUNDAY GAZETTE IS COVERING WIDE FIELD

Fiction and Features by Able Writers and News Service Which Enters Every Land.

Brighter and newsier than ever was The Gazette of yesterday. Its departments were more diversified and the range of its news was over an even wider field than heretofore. Some of the special articles were of an excellence unlooked for in a periodical which also aims to cover the news of the world. There was fiction, articles on science and special columns devoted to women and the youth of the land. A big magazine compiled by the foremost writers of the day; a big newspaper whose news service goes everywhere; a comic section which the small boy gets up early and waits on the corner for, and news for business men which means more business and consequently more dollars. What more could anyone ask?

The Republicans auspiciously opened the county campaign with a monster mass meeting in Old City hall. Blair county Lincoln leaders have fought among themselves and are deserting Berry. The latter's political managers are disappointed at their candidate's small audiences. Gov. Herrick's fearless campaign in Ohio has given his enemies an unlooked-for jolt. Interest in the Berry-Plummer fight at Butler is being overshadowed by the charter question. Bigelow orators have refused to make campaign speeches until they get fat political positions.

All England is in mourning over the death of Sir Henry Irving. Postal employes of Great Britain are to inspect the service in this country.

The czar's letter inviting the United States to join in a second peace conference, and the president's reply, are made public by the state department. The emperors of Russia and Japan signed the treaty of peace, thus officially ending the war in the far east. United States Senator Dryden sent out a circular letter to sound public opinion on the subject of national supervision over life insurance. A young woman was caught with smuggled jewelry in her stocking. Five passengers were drowned and many injured by a huge wave which swept over the steamship Campania. A six-foot iron fence will hereafter shut out the public from John D. Rockefeller's country estate. The Pennsylvania railroad's president and directors have started on an inspection of the lines west of Pittsburgh. Men accused of conspiracy to defraud the city of Philadelphia waived a hearing and are held for court.

Judge Brown told counsel for Mrs. Emma B. Krueger that she could not bring non-support cases into that court every week. Many couples filed libels to have marriage ties severed. W. D. Holliday has resigned as assistant general freight agent of the Wabash system. President Murray and other high officers of the Baltimore & Ohio, who are spending a couple of days here, say that the new station in Pittsburgh is assured for next year. Directors of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Ship Canal Company returned to Pittsburgh well pleased with the plans for the project and convinced of its need and practicability more than ever. Runaway boys from Home for Colored Children in Allegheny sang plantation melodies while in Central station. Bandmaster Sousa will arrive here this morning for the closing week of the exposition. Police Inspector Robinson of the First district refused to longer stand for the rottenness in the police bureau, so quit. Board inspected the technical school and everything is in readiness for the opening this morning. Great preparations have been made for the fifth trade excursion of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association.

New York defeated the Philadelphia Athletics and won the world's championship baseball series. There was fast racing at Brunots island for the closing matinee events. Princeton beat Bucknell and Yale won from Holy Cross. W. U. P. ran up a score of 71 to 0 against California Normal.

Saturday was the dullest day for weeks on the stock exchange. New York bank loans decreased $29,500,000 for the week, and surplus reserves increased nearly $6,000,000. Wheat closed at a loss.

CONSECRATE BUILDING.

New McKinley Park Presbyterian Church Is Dedicated With Three Special Services.

The new McKinley Park Presbyterian church, Chalfant and Belmont street, Thirty-eighth ward, was dedicated yesterday with the Rev. Dr. Edward P. Cowan, secretary of the board of Freedmen, delivering the dedicatory sermon. His text was: "And the stone that the builder respected was found to be the corner stone of the church."

During the afternoon and evening special services were conducted and addresses were delivered by William C. Lilley, Willis A. Booth, E. D. Betz, G. H. Schmunk, Evan Jones and the Revs. W. A. Jones and P. W. Snyder. The new church has been completed at a cost of $10,000. The Rev. B. J. Brown is pastor.

The Montooth mission, under which name the congregation has worked for several years, will meet tomorrow evening to organize the congregation and elect officers. A personage is to be erected on one of two lots which adjoin the church and which is owned by the congregation.

Stoker Falls from Fire Engine.

While going to a fire in Laurel avenue, Bloomfield, late yesterday afternoon, David Stevenson, stoker for No. 6 engine company in Forty-fourth street, lost his balance at Liberty avenue and Main street and fell from the engine. He received a severe scalp wound and was otherwise bruised. After receiving medical attention, he was taken to his home in Friendship avenue, near Ella street. Stevenson was picked up by people in the street and the company continued on its way to the fire, which was caused by a small explosion in a Pennsylvania railroad gas house. The damage was slight.

Takes Fillinger to Philadelphia.

James Fillinger of 53 Eureka street, who was arrested Saturday by Detectives Crooks and Riley, was taken to Philadelphia last night, where he is wanted to answer a charge of misdemeanor. It is said a young girl has twice attempted suicide because of Fillinger's alleged desertion of her.

Come Now Own Up

It restores color to gray hair every time, all the deep, rich color of early life. And it cures dandruff also. Sold everywhere for 60 years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

PORTLAND FAIR HAS 2,545,509 ADMISSIONS

PORTLAND, ORE., Oct. 15.—When the gates of the Lewis & Clark exposition closed at 1 o'clock this morning a total attendance of 56,960 for the last day of the fair had been registered, making the grand total attendance for the entire fair period 2,545,509 admissions.

"PHARAOH'S DAUGHTER."

The "Maid of Mystery" at Kaufmann's Auditorium This Week—All Ghost Stories Outdone.

As a preparatory feature for the weird doings of coming Halloween, the free entertainment at Kaufmann's auditorium this week is most timely.

"Pharoah's Daughter" is one of those illusions whose impressive realism becomes a lifetime memory—one of those mystic transformations that make one doubt the evidence of their own eyes and, despite their reason, to wonder whether, after all, such marvelous feats can be accomplished without supernatural aid.

The entire act occupies about 20 minutes. The curtain parts to reveal the scene of leafless trees and rushes, in the midst of which stands a white marble statue of the daughter of Egypt's ruler holding before her in a basket, the infant Moses. Without question the image is cold, hard stone—it looks the part to perfection.

And now comes a marvelous metamorphosis.

Gradually the face takes on a rosy flush like the first tints of dawn in the eastern sky, and the shadowy outline of flowers begins to show in the basket. Animation spreads over the features and the stony eyes become the radiant black orbs of a lovely girl. The infant fades away completely, yielding place to a basket filled with fresh roses; meanwhile the palms and other surrounding trees put forth foliage and blossoms, as naturally as in springtime. The last vestige of stone disappears, and a sprightly young woman comes forward to the footlights, as real a human being as any one of the astounded spectators.

After giving everybody convincing evidence of her humanity, she turns with a graceful farewell to the audience and retraces her steps to her original position on the stage and begins to sing. Gradually the flowers grow less and less distinct, slowly fading away. The soft folds of her gown assume the rigid lines of cold stone, the rosy, smiling lips harden into rough-hewn marble, the infant Moses reappears in the basket, and all the trees die, with the sole expection of the palms, which, curiously enough, continue to wave their green fringed boughs.

As the young woman turns back into stone, a volunteer from the audience is placed beside her. This person will likewise undergo a startling transformation—will be turned from something into nothing, will fade into thin air as completely as escaping steam passes into invisible vapor. Onlookers know it happens, but how, is beyond their ken.

This remarkable illusion is the invention of Mr. George Carrington, a young man of 27, who first worked out the original idea in a crude way with a handsaw and jackknife, while a lad in short pants. It was first shown in miniature at the Moorish palace, at the Columbian exposition in Chicago. Not satisfied with the imperfect results attained, he continued to develop and perfect the scheme until it has now reached the stage of realism that seems to border on the supernatural. Herrmann, while in Chicago, heard of the device, sought out young Carrington and offered a partnership, which would have been carried out but for the untimely death of the master magician. On the Pike at the St. Louis exposition "Pharaoh's Daughter" attracted great crowds, the receipts of a single day reaching $1,100.

Its coming to Pittsburgh will prove a most interesting event for those who delight in the extraordinary. Seven free exhibitions will be given daily on the fourth floor at Kaufmann's, each starting promptly on the hour, from 10 a. m. till 4 p. m. Owing to the time required to construct the essential apparatus, the first presentation Monday cannot be given until 2 p. m.

As a supplementary feature to this entertainment, La Petite Phyllis, a talented 6-year-old soubrette, will give vocal selections, accompanied by her sister, Miss Hazel Shipman, an accomplished pianist.

Tonsiline Cures Sore Throat

The throat is one of the most delicate parts of the body. It is also one of the most important, and should be given the best possible care.

The throat is the gateway to the body. The air we breathe, the food we eat, the liquids we drink, all pass through it. It is very easily affected by cold, strain, exposure, etc., and Sore Throat is therefore one of our most common ailments. Strangely enough, it is also one of the most neglected.

Sore Throat is a very serious matter, for the whole system is in danger in consequence of it.

Every Sore Throat patient is a candidate for Tonsilitis, Quinsy, Diphtheria and other serious or fatal diseases, all of which can positively be prevented by the timely cure of the Sore Throat by the use of TONSILINE.

If taken in time a dose or two will do it.

TONSILINE is made to cure throat diseases and nothing else. It is the one remedy for this purpose sold largely in the United States. Every user endorses it; every physician, knowing its virtues, commends it.

The one most important thing to remember about TONSILINE is the fact that it really does cure Sore Throat.

NEW MINISTER TELLS OUTLOOK

WHAT A LEADER SHOULD BE

The Rev. Dr. C. W. Blodgett, late of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church of Cincinnati, preached his initial sermon to his new charge, the North Avenue congregation, Allegheny, where he succeeds the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, yesterday morning, and was received by a large congregation. His sermon theme was "The Outlook," and was based on the question asked by the Prophet Nehemiah: "Why should the work cease?" He said in part:

The appointment of Nehemiah to the work in the city of Jerusalem was of divine origin or he would not have succeeded. The present pastor of this church comes, as he believes, by divine direction, and he succeeds a man of pre-eminent ability and one that has been felt away beyond the walls of the church.

It is a good thing to have friends at court. If you must break with men, do not break with those who can crush you. Sometimes one man means more in the state and in the church than a thousand. It is the duty of every individual, church, and state, to be fortified. The outlook in this great church is bright, because back of it is a magnificent history and in its possession today are mighty agencies with a splendid leadership in every department.

The successful leader, as drawn in a word picture, was a symmetrical, well-equipped man—one that every preacher should aspire to be—but that few if any ever become. There is a mastering principle in every life, and if it is a filial fear of God, the man need take no anxiety. You will know a corporation or movement by finding the main spring.

The symmetrical leader, like Nehemiah, is a man of great faith. Such men do something. Faith is the measure of success. With faith is coupled piety, but not of the hullabaloo kind. Greatness withers, but goodness never dies. Patriotism is linked with piety. The minister is not to deal from his pulpit in partisan politics, but every pulpit should utter no uncertain sound concerning the moral, spiritual, physical, and intellectual welfare of the people of the city or state.

Everything is sacred. The pulpit stands for a clean life, clean city, and a clean state. The pure in heart, of the church and city, are blessed because they are clean. Sagacity should be studied. The wise men never blurt out what they hope to do. The flare of trumpet does not announce their coming. Prudence is a characteristic that is not to be despised.

Any church or any man, great or small, can measure up to his ability in prayer, promptitude, and perseverance. The preacher should be a man of convictions. A great, strong, aggressive church despises a trimmer. If there is courage tempered with good judgment, then grace, grit, and go, give the man a hearing. Above all is fidelity. Stand by your own. Your own should stand by you. The heedless are the reckless.

The church is a syndicate. Here we mass our forces. Here the small stockholder can hope to be felt. There never was a brighter day than the one in which we live. The force of this universe for the elevation of mankind has been lodged in the American church, and that society that does its duty will flourish. It is a crime for a man with a message not to make himself heard and for a people with an opportunity not to measure up to it.

In the Oil Fields

Light developments in the lower southwest and Southeastern Ohio fields and a failure to advance the market, made it a dull week. For more than a month the credit balance market had eben advanced one or more times each week and the failure to move during the week just closed was something of a disappointment. However, operators have not abandoned the hope that it will go higher. All recognize the fact that the 29 cents that have been added to the credit balance market for high grade crude is a vast improvement over the price that prevailed all through the year. It is claimed that the conditions are most favorable for a still greater appreciation.

It is claimed that the stocks have been so greatly reduced during the year that it will require a higher market to encourage development work if the production is to be increased and even then it will not be possible to bring production and consumption on equal terms should the present demand continue. If the same ratio of runs and shipments continue to the end of the month as has prevailed during the expired portion of the month, the demand made on the oil in storage, to meet the consumption, will be the heaviest of any month of the year.

A visit to the lower southwest fields and Southeastern Ohio will show a marked contrast to what has prevailed since development work began in West Virginia and on the Ohio side. No large blocks of virgin territory are held in reserve. There are many thousands of acres under lease that have not been fully tested but there is no assurance that even a small part of it will prove good producing territory. A year ago there were some pools in the deep sand districts that looked promising but have now been fully developed or can no longer be relied on for anything better than light pumpers. In these districts the initiative to active development work on account of the advance in the market will not be in evidence. The outlay to carry forward development work is very heavy and the money invested is a long way in the future for the operator. Another contingency is the probability of dusters and these are trying on a bank account and very discouraging.

The discovery of new pools is and will remain a possibility for some years, but they will prove congested and result in a profit to a few and a loss to the many. This has been true of all of the discoveries of the past year, with the exception of two. West of Mannington in the 50-foot development on Bartholomew run, in Marion county, the outlook was most promising and but few made any money in that development. What at first looked like a field of some dimensions was confined to a few hundred acres when developed and defined. The leases were closely drilled and the wells declined rapidly and at this time the best are small pumpers and not a few have fallen so low in production that they have been abandoned.

In the shallow sand districts, the advance in the market is exerting some influence in the way of causing new work to be started in the old fields. There is also a noticeable inclination on a part of a few operators to start some experimental work in the hope of finding new pools. The Wick pool, in Meade district, and the Yellow Creek district, in Calhoun county, are still the most active of any in the lower southwest. In the last named, the recently discovered extension to the southwest, on the Little Kanawha river, is calling out considerable new work. In the older part of the field there is a fair amount of development work under way.

During the week the well on the Garrison farm in advance of the Wick pool, on Sugar creek, was drilled through the sand and proved a duster. The average size of the late completions in the older part of the pool has been greatly reduced. In the early development work gushers were not uncommon, while a well that now starts at 50 barrels a day is above the average. The eastern edge of Tyler county has been tested pretty thoroughly during the summer months, but nothing out of the ordinary occurred. A few small producers were found, but the dusters outnumbered the profitable producers. Operations in that section have been almost abandoned.

On the Ohio side operators are inclined to increase development work. The territory is of the shallow kind and the expense of drilling is not heavy. New Producing territory is hard to find, but in some localities operators are starting wildcats. Harrison county is in the lead with work of that character. At the present time the best producers in Southeastern Ohio are found in the Berea grit development, near Woodsfield, in Monroe county. There is considerable activity in that district. There is considerable new work starting in the new Keener sand development near the same place. This county is about due to present a new pool. It has led all others during the year in new pools. Nearly all have been small.

Washington county is completing more wells than any other. They are located in old territory and the most of them very light, with many that fall to the duster list. There is still an effort making to carry the Rays run development to the Ohio river. Two test wells completed with that end in view came in dusters during the week.

On Wells creek, north of Steubenville, Jefferson county, the late completions have brought no improvement in the outlook. So far as developments have progressed the producing area is confined to a very small acreage and no indication for an extension.

In the Homeworth district, in Columbiana county, there is some new work starting. The last two wells completed in that district are above the average in size and makes it look good for a northwest extension.

In the Adams pool, in Harrison county, Jennings Bros. completed a very good producer during the week. The well produced 100 barrels the first 24 hours after it was drilled into the pay.

FEAR OF DEAR MONEY DEPRESSES STOCKS

Americans Present Ragged Appearance and Show Most of Declines in London.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The stock markets have been fluctuating a good deal during the week. Owing to the fear of dear money, the week opened with a depressed tone in nearly all departments. Fears of an impending 5 per cent bank rate depressed consols and home rails, while the New York bank return was not calculated to encourage operations in Americans. Then, of course, Argentine rails were under the influence of a threatened widespread strike and the expressed determination of the government, should it take place, to proclaim martial law.

Later on, these adverse influences were removed or modified and now an almost general recovery has taken place, bringing prices up to or above the level of last week.

Not for a very long while has there been such excitement seen as in the Mexican section on Thursday, in anticipation of the half-yearly dividend announcement. Most operators looked for a 6 per cent rate, and the few who ventured to count upon a slightly better distribution were by many regarded as foolhardy. There was, as a consequence, much rejoicing among the more pessimistic when the result showed a rate of 6¼ per cent.

Consols and gilt edged securities improved on the retention of the bank rate at 4 per cent, and foreign government stocks have steadied, though in some cases there is a slight loss of market values as compared with last week. Home rails became much firmer on the publication of the week's traffic returns, and though business has been on a very restricted scale, nearly all the variations in prices are in the direction of improvement.

Americans present now a rather ragged appearance, and show a majority of declines, while the changes in Canadians on balance are insignificant, a partial reaction has taken place in iron and coal shares and industrials generally have developed no particular feature.

Mining shares recovered a little toward the close, but are barely up to last week's level, except in Rio Tintos, which were strong on the promised redemption of outstanding debentures.

Of course, whether the fear of dear money proves well founded depends mainly on the course of events in the United States, the warning by Vanderlip, showing so clearly that, in his opinion, the bankers' outlook is sufficiently uncertain to enjoin caution.

There are none here who expect there will be a serious fall in prices, though there may be a little setback. Pessimism continues to prevail here, but considering the great prosperity of the United States and the very large business that the railways are doing, it is out of the question to think of anything like a heavy fall, only that there is need of caution.

Resume Three Services.

Three Sunday preaching services were resumed yesterday in the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, preached morning, afternoon and evening, the afternoon service beginning at 4 o'clock and continuing one hour. This service will be continued for the balance of the year each Sunday afternoon.

MONEY CONDITIONS MAINTAIN ASCENDENCY OVER MARKET

Vanderlip's Washington Address Has Direct Influence, but Its Reception by the Speculative Community Is Obviously Overdone.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Money market conditions maintained their ascendancy last week over stock market operations to a rather marked degree, and it was upon the developments in the money position at home and abroad that financial interest focused. There were other happenings of more or less importance during the week, but, inasmuch as they represented the fulfillment of earlier promises, their influence was not so direct as was the force of the shifting money currents.

Thus, the publication of the government's crop report, covering conditions near the close of the month of September, largely confirmed previous forecasts. The announcement of an issue of Great Northern shares under conditions most favorable to the road's stockholders, marked the fruition of a plan long known to have been under advisement, which, to those familiar with Wall street ways, explains the subsequent recessions in the price of the present shares. It is not certain, however, there is to come additional financing from this quarter, unless the prevalent belief that a favorable disposition of the Great Northern's ore lands as planned is unfounded.

Similarly, as regards the dividend increase of the week, it has long been known that the earnings of the Pacific coast company presented opportunity for an enlarged distribution to shareholders, and this has also been true, perhaps in smaller degree, in the case of the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, which is doubtless participating in the prosperity attending the iron and steel business.

These developments, each in its way, reflected the soundness of underlying conditions in agriculture, commerce and trade, and their passive reception in Wall street proves nothing more than a general recognition of the presence of this fundamental strength in the country's position. The solidity of the investment structure is unquestioned, and it is this fact itself which promotes such intimate study of the speculative position just at the time when, buttressed by real values, the only point open to question is the money supply.

A direct influence on the market of the week was Mr. Vanderlip's Washington address, although its reception by the speculative community was obviously overdone. After giving just weight to the manifold evidences of wide prosperity throughout this country, he ventured to point out a fact which has been patent to all but those imbued with the speculative fever—namely, that the enormous demands on funds involved in a greater volume of business than has ever been known in our trade annals left no room for extended speculation in the stock market, coming as they did with the harvest requirements at unprecedented figures.

Absurd deductions were at once made from this simple statement of fact; so absurd that ground is found for the belief that some such movement as that deprecated by Mr. Vanderlip was nipped in the bud. But all this does not impair the real value attaching to such a sane and timely exposition of the real situation.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN LOCAL MARKETS

Groceries Show Little Change in Prices—Apples Were in Better Supply.

The week was marked by a steady market in most lines, especially in grocery supplies. Quotations were changed but little and prices were well maintained. The flour market showed a disposition to stiffen and Kansas patent was advanced five cents early in the week. Other grades were kept at former quotations. Sugar had a steady sale all week and no changes in prices were announced. Rice was quoted up owing to the largely increased demand. A feature of the grocery market is the comparatively light stock of canned goods in sight and the probability of higher prices soon for tomatoes, peas and beans.

In the produce market larger arrivals of vegetables made a fairly active trade. Potatoes were weaker in market the first of the week, but stiffened toward the close and dealers believe that present prices will be pretty well maintained owing to the reports of rot that are coming in from all sections. Turnips, squash and peppers were in large stock. Lima beans are nearly gone and home grown cucumbers are scarce. A few cantaloupes are still to be seen in the commission houses, but the end of the season is practically at hand.

Apples were in much better supply the latter part of the week and the quality of most was excellent. There is little likelihood of much lower prices, for the big apple sections are not sending out the crop they usually do. New York and Ohio fruit is most in evidence. Lighter receipts of grapes, due to the hard storm in the grape sections, pushed the price up a little, but yesterday there was a tendency to the quotations that prevailed early in the week. Malaga grapes are in market. New figs and Jamaica oranges were also offered for sale Friday for the first time this season. Prices on dried fruits are firm and quotations were advanced yesterday on dried apples, evaporated apricots and prunes.

No changes of note were made in the prices of provisions. Butter also remained at the prices prevailing the former week and prices on eggs suffered little change. The cheese market continues a little weak.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts Saturday were: Pennsylvania, 14 cars hay, 17 cars oats, 1 car feed, 1 car straw, 14 cars corn. Baltimore & Ohio, 15 cars hay, 7 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 2 cars feed. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car straw, 1 car corn, 2 cars rye.

The hay and grain market was strong and active all the week. Good sales were made on 'change and quotations were well maintained in all lines. This was especially true of oats, corn and hay. The price of oats was advanced again and the market took all the offerings quickly at the higher price. The supply of shelled corn was not adequate for the demand and prices were firm. Straw was much wanted the latter part of the week but the receipts were small. All grades of good hay sold well, clover, mixed, being a favorite with buyers. But little rye came in to market, but the distillers are not ready to take their full supply, so that the call for it was not hard to fill. The trade in feed was light in comparison to that in grain and hay, but no changes were announced in prices.

SECOND CHURCH IS DEDICATED

THREE SERVICES ARE HELD

Under direction of the pastor, the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, and assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. M. McKibben, president of Lane Theological seminary of Cincinnati, and the Rev. Dr. J. R. Sutherland of Burlington, Ia., both former pastors, the new Second Presbyterian church, Eighth street, near Duquesne way, was dedicated yesterday morning.

As the congregation entered each member was presented with a paper bearing the question: "What wilt thou have me do?" and 15 kinds of institutional work which the holder was asked to use in selecting three forms which were to be indicated by placing a cross mark before each. The papers were then taken up.

Immediately at the close of the morning service the Sabbath school was convened in its new rooms for the first time. A large number of the former members was present, among them being Oliver McClintock, W. H. Stevenson, formerly Sunday school superintendent, and H. D. Murray, for many years secretary of the Sunday school.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the Chinese department of the Sabbath school convened, to the number of 50. An equal number of teachers was present. Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McJunkin, who were the first to establish the Chinese Sunday school, 25 years ago, were present and spoke encouragingly to the Chinamen. At 4 o'clock a communion service was celebrated. Fully 1,000 persons were present.

In the evening at a regular service Dr. Young preached on "The Way to Serve God," the Rev. Drs. McKibben and Sutherland assisting again. This evening a reception will be held at the church parlors.

In his sermon Dr. Young said:

Is not this the church that is worth while? The church that accounts itself a rescuing party hurried to perishing mankind, crying as it goes. There is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved. Education, civic reform, philanthropy; these and a thousand more are commendable; but soul reclamation is their fountain source and of all important things the first is that you be saved, and the second that you be getting others saved. Worth while is the church that cherishes a sense of her Lord's ceaseless presence.

Worth while is the church that keeps everlastingly at it. Suppose our steel mills ran an hour and 15 minutes two or three times a week and shut down tight as a drum the remainder of the time. Ah, but making steel is business! Yes, and saving men ought to be the believer's business. Let our new edifice be open daily. Be this a shelter and trysting place. Do not people sigh for help from Monday to Saturday? Is Christianity only a seventh day affair? Out in Utah they have the Latter Day Saints. In Pittsburgh we want the everyday saints.

Heaven had come to Jerusalem. Of course throngs hastened to crowd in. Who would not escape from the greed and strife and heartlessness, the deceit and prayerlessness, the self-seeking, joylessness and praiselessness of our hard day, to flee into a haven of brotherly love and peace and never-ending song? If something should suddenly break the cohesiveness between Pittsburghers and their dollars and every church member's bank account and house should be placed at the disposal of every fellow Christian, how long would the unsaved stand aloof and unimpressed? Mark you, this was an atmosphere wherein one man would not say to another, "I am as good as you are;" but, rather, "You are as good as I am."

Beloved people, 102 years of Second church history come to us this day and plead: "Be thou faithful." Sainted Pastors Snowden, Boggs, Hunt, Swift, Blythe, Dunlap, Howard, and living pastors, too, come and plead, "Be thou faithful." Could I take the hand of that prince of pastors, William D. Howard, how I would tell him the strength his ministry here has been to us who followed. Who can measure the debt we owe the dead of this congregation? Make return—never.

WHY PSALMS ARE SUNG BY UNITED PRESBYTERIANS

Under the sermon subject "The Position of the United Presbyterian Church on Praise," the Rev. Dr. W. R. Thompson of the Eleventh United Presbyterian church, West End, yesterday outlined the position of his denomination on the psalmody question, saying in part:

Praise has ever been an important feature of the worship of God. It has its sanction in the Divine word and direct authorization in the provisions by the spirit of a complete manual of praise—"The Book of Psalms." These were not only used in the temple service of the Jews, but were used by Christ and his disciples, and the apostolic church and by Christians generally, and by some exclusively. Some professed Christians, while agreeing that these songs may be sung in praise, have urged that a larger liberty should be had, and that the sacred songs composed by godly men may be properly employed in the praise service of the church.

It assuredly is not my purpose or spirit to call in question the Christian character of those denominations or individuals who claim the larger liberty in the matter of praise; for I number among them devout followers of Christ, men and women whose piety is marked by the deepest fervor, and whom we delight to call brethren. Even from these we get encouragement to adhere fully to our position, for in recognition of the error and false doctrine that has come into the church through the wide open door of unrestricted human hymnology, they say "Guard well your songs."

I am on the other hand free to admit that the advocates of the exclusive use of the psalms have not made the best use of their opportunities. Employing the controversial method, with scathing denunciation, some have called to account those who exercised this larger liberty, which they felt was allowed, and at the same time were content to sing in miserable rhythm and worse music, often poorly rendered, these blessed songs.

I am glad there is a revival of song in our church, and certainly there is no way by which we can commend the beauty, adaptation and spiritual grandeur of the psalms so well as by having them written in beautiful rhythm and sung skillfully.

In our declaration on this subject we have these words: "We declare that it is the will of God that the songs contained in the book of psalms be sung in His worship, both in public and private, to the end of the world; and in singing God's praise these songs should be used to the exclusion of the devotional compositions of uninspired men."

This does not limit to any version, but allows for the best possible. But how sustain this position? Why does the United Presbyterian and those like her, exclude human composition, while many denominations feel that they may sing and compose songs for the church?

Does not this very text sanction the use of human composition? We reply that these words were addressed to those familiar with the septuagent, the Greek translation of the scrip in which the psalms bore the titles: Psalms, hymns and odes. Jerome, one of the most learned apostolic fathers, said that the difference between psalms, hymns and spiritual songs is best shown in the book of psalms. May we not all pray that Christian people may unite in one great chorus and that the matter of song may be taken from the inspired psalter.

BISHOP DEDICATES AMBRIDGE CHURCH

The Right Rev. Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, dedicated St. Matthias' church in Ambridge yesterday afternoon. He was assisted by Archdeacon Homer Flint and the Rev. Robert Benton of Sewickley. In the morning Archdeacon Cole of Pittsburgh preached, and in the evening the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. E. E. Paddock of Allegheny. The church has been erected at a cost of $5,000 and will be supplied for the present by lay readers.

CONCEITED FOOLS ARE DISCUSSED BY PASTOR

The Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees Tells of Men With Wrong Ideas on Theology.

"The Conceited Fool" was the sermon theme of the Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees in the pulpit of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church last evening, it being the first of a series on "The Fools of Solomon's Time—Do They Exist Today?" He took for his text Proverbs, xii:15: "The way of a fool is right in his own eyes," and devoted himself chiefly to a discussion of fools in religion. He said in part:

The word fool has come to have a harsh sound, and a meaning that did not obtain in the days of Solomon. It does not mean an imbecile, nor an idiot. Not a man devoid of reason, but one who reasons wrongly. Perversity of will would be a good definition of the fool spoken of in the text. The conceited fool lived in Solomon's time, but some of his progeny are here. I call your attention to them.

First, the ecclesiastical fool. He is a veritable bigot. He thinks he is right and all others are wrong. He has a certain shibboleth and if you do not pronounce it just as he does you are not a subject of saving grace. He is narrow and exclusive. He is hugging an old moss-covered, antediluvian idea to his heart, and tries to gather the modern Christian world about it and cannot. So he denounces the whole lot, who do not think as he does.

The next fool is the man who has discovered some phase of truth and is giving it tremendous emphasis. He does not see any other truth save that one. The second coming of Christ, divine healing; the love of God; holiness, all great truths, and all wholesome, but no one of them globing all truth in itself. This fool renders himself obnoxious by his narrowness, and vitiates the truth by his absurd advocacy of it. How many there are who are so intent looking for the coming of Christ, that they cannot see men in sin all about them, and needing help.

The third fool is the man who surrenders himself to appetite, thinking he can rise up and shake off its power when he pleases. He forgets that habit has sharp claws, with which to fasten upon its victim. Habit grows and despoils its devotee.

The fourth fool is the man who is hoping to make a corpse live by putting good clothes on it. That is to say, he is substituting morality for the atoning work of Jesus Christ. Building a road to heaven at his own expense, and is short on material. He forgets what God's book says, "Except a man be born again he cannot enter the kingdom of heaven." How absurd to abandon the bridge and take to the icy, swollen water. Cling, my friend, to Christ.

PASTOR IS INSTALLED.

The Rev. Carl A. Voss Is Consecrated Pastor of Smithfield Street Church.

With special and elaborate services morning and evening the Rev. Carl A. Voss, the newly elected pastor of the Smithfield Street German Evangelical Protestant church, was installed yesterday. During the morning the Revs. August F. Bender of Allegheny, E. DeGeller of Ridgway, Alfred Schramm of Pittsburgh, C. E. Gilbert Schmidt of Covington, Ky., and M. Orend of Homestead, participated, while the Rev. Eduard Voss of Cincinnati delivered the installation sermon.

In the evening the same pastors participated in a similar service, while both morning and afternoon elaborate and classical musical programs were carried out.

CONCLUDES 36 YEARS IN SINGLE PASTORATE

Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo Observes Anniversary by Preaching on Longevity and Its Worth.

The Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church, observed the 36th anniversary of his pastorate, the longest in this vicinity, yesterday morning by delivering a special sermon entitled: "Is Long Life Desirable?" He took for his text Genesis, v:27: "All the days of Methuselah were 969 years; and he died," and said in part:

We all speak of long life as a blessing, and we are sustained in this sentiment by the teachings and promises of the Bible, which represent old age as a blessing and an honor and a fitting reward for righteous living. Years do not always teach wisdom, do not always bring contentment, do not satisfy the infinite longings of man's spiritual nature, do not bring ease, peace, honor or any other of those things which our fancy regards as essential to happiness. If the best that can be said of a man is that he lived 80, or 100, or 969 years, and then died, it had been better for that man, and for the world at large, so far as he was personally concerned, that he had never been born.

It is time for us to revise our estimates as to the value and importance of long life. It all depends on what kind of a life a man really lives, whether we should congratulate him upon the fact of having survived many years or express our profound pity for his unfortunate plight. It is a little bit late to pity Methusaleh, but I have a notion that Noah often felt pity for him even though he may possibly have refrained from expressing it, because he was his grandson. I do, however, sincerely pity the man who has lived through three score years and has not discovered the real aim and purpose of the life which God has bestowed upon him.

Since that bright day in the autumn time of long ago, when I was ordained to the ministry in this church, seasons have come and gone, until 36 years, with their joys and sorrows, their smiles and tears, their toils and their triumphs, have been numbered with the past. The godly men whose hands were laid upon my head at that time, and from whose lips I received wholesome admonition and wise counsel and much-needed encouragement, have all gone. Not a solitary member of the presbytery that set me apart to this office now answers the roll call.

What has been accomplished by me during these years of ministration is a matter of record in the book to be opened on judgment day. I have neither the heart nor the skill nor the disposition to attempt to tell what has been done, much less what has been neglected. If I were to tell of the number who have been brought into the church in this period it would seem insignificant in comparison with what has been accomplished by other brethren in the ministry in a far less period. Or if I was to attempt to show you what money has been raised for the various benevolent schemes of the church, the amount, when compared with what others have raised in a fraction of the time, the showing would seem pitiably small. If the success of this ministry is to be judged by the good that has been accomplished in these years, as I strive to make the survey, I am afraid that the verdict would be that mine has been a barren ministry.
